LBJ Regrets Diversion Of Viet Nam War Effort

WASHINGTON (AP) — Calling for unity in South Viet Nam, President Johnson said Saturday he regrets any diversion from the war effort there or from the attempt to build democracy.

This was as close as Johnson came, during a news conference in his office, to chiding the Vietnamese for mounting political turmoil that, officials concede, has hampered some military operations.

Reading a prepared statement, beyond which he declined to venture, Johnson said the situation was being watched closely and asserted: "We believe everything possible should be done to bring the various factions to an understanding of the need for unity while the constitutional process is moving forward. That is what our people are trying to do."

After speaking of this constitutional process, Johnson said, "We regret any diversion from that task and from efforts to defeat the Communist attempt to take over South Viet Nam."

Johnson declined to state his current attitude toward Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, target for Buddhist demands for a new Saigon government.

Still Serious
But he made no attempt to minimize the seriousness of the situation, saying the Vietnamese have "a hard and frustrating job, and there is no easy answer — no instant solution — to any of the problems they face."

But at almost the same time Johnson was saying this, another administration official sought to play down the idea that the present struggle between the Ky regime and dissident forces is likely to spread into civil war, paralyzing South Viet Nam.

This official, who stipulated he not be quoted by name, portrayed the strife in the Da Nang-Hue area as a localized, small-scale conflict likely to wind up in a political settlement.

As for U.S. strategy, he said no consideration was being given here to any basic change in the plan for heavy commitment of American troops in South

Buddhist Leaders Seek Peace Talks With Ky

Will Meet If Walt Assures Their Safety

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — With forces of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military government rapidly getting the upper hand, rebel Buddhist leaders at Da Nang Sunday offered to negotiate if the United States would guarantee their safety.

The offer was sent to U.S. Marine commander Gen. Lewis W. Walt hours after the United States evacuated some of its warplanes from the Da Nang field in an exodus that could slow the war against the Communists.

Undecided
There was no immediate indication whether the Buddhist offer would be accepted, or whether it was aimed at finding a compromise or meant surrender.

The U.S. base was calm after rebel firing Saturday. Rebel shelling of the base boomeranged into an American warning to Buddhist leaders: American troops will strike back in case of further such attacks on U.S. installations.

The Da Nang field, only about two miles from the center of the fighting between government troops and a rebel force of armed Buddhist civilians and defecting soldiers — has been a jumpoff point for strikes against the Communists both north and south of the border. Most of the missions have been aimed against the Viet Cong.

Military sources said the dispersal is bound to have some military impact, but just how much could not be gauged immediately.

At the same time, the United States was reported to have put new pressure on Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's government to cut short the revolt that menaces the massive American commitment in South Viet Nam.

"Moving Forward"
President Johnson emphasized that the Americans are trying "to bring the various factions to an understanding of the need for unity while the constitutional (election) process is moving forward."

"We are not in Viet Nam to dictate what form of government they should have," Johnson said in a statement issued at a White House news conference. "Our wish is to see them increasingly able to manage their own affairs, with the participation of an ever-broader share of the population. We regret any diversion from that task and from efforts to defeat the Communists' attempt to take over South Viet Nam."

Whether from American suggestions or his junta's judgment, Ky's troops tightened a ring of steel around rebel holdings in Da Nang even as he summoned the civilian-military National People's Congress for a session Tuesday to weigh the situation.

Rioting rocked Saigon for the second straight day. Police turned back a crowd of 5,000 in one anti-government demonstration and 1,000 torch-bearing youths in another, preventing them from leaving a limited perimeter around the central pagoda.

For the first time in a week of fighting at Da Nang, there were American casualties. Fifteen U.S. servicemen — 11 Marines, three Air Force men and a naval officer — were injured in scattered incidents from the fire of both sides.

Under Attack
Most were caught by shell fragments in the attack on the Da Nang Air Base from rebel mortar positions. Several shells were fired. No damage was reported. Though Buddhist leaders had threatened to destroy the base unless the United States forced government troops to withdraw, American military sources here said they felt the attack was not deliberate.

That was their impression, too, of the wounding of three Marines by rockets from a rebel fighter-bomber against rebel positions on the east side of the Da Nang River. A flight of U.S. jets took off and circled the area but did not interfere with the government raid.

Other Americans pressed the ground war against the Communists in the An Khe area of the central highlands and the Boi Loi woods, 35 miles northwest of Saigon. Vietnamese troops reported killing 20 Viet Cong in An Xuyen Province at the nation's southern tip. Monsoon rains again limited air strikes against the Viet Nam. Air Force and Navy pilots together flew 15 missions Friday.

Ike Asks Overhaul In Atomic Sales Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower proposes a drastic overhaul of the Atomic Energy Act to provide for the possible sale of nuclear weapons and submarines to North Atlantic defense nations.

As a former supreme commander of NATO, Eisenhower said he had felt, "We should seek authority to sell appropriate nuclear weapons to other governments under special conditions and arrangements — to be approved by the NATO organization — that could operate effectively in the defense of Europe."

He found it strange, he said, "that even though the Soviets long ago succeeded in developing a nuclear capability of great strength and efficiency we have been forced, by law, to keep any useful knowledge about the science from most of our partners in NATO."

Partial Failure
Eisenhower also indicated the present level of American troops kept in Europe stems in part from failure of the allies to raise expected ground forces.

He said that while nothing should be done to antagonize the French people to make up the deficit from France's pullout from NATO's system, the other allies — especially Germany — should be encouraged to develop more military power.

Johnson administration policy continues to be committed to a maintenance of American troop strength in Europe. U.S. officials have been favoring greater defense efforts by the other NATO members, including Germany.

Eisenhower expressed his views in a letter written May 17 from Walter Reed Hospital where he is under treatment for arthritis, to Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., and Rep. Edna F. Kelly, D-N.Y. Jackson, who heads a Senate Government Operations subcommittee, and Rep. Kelly, head of a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee on Europe, made the letter public Saturday night.

Eisenhower's proposals collided with the position the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee has taken against the transfer of nuclear weapons to any other nation.

They also seem to cut across current efforts by the Johnson administration to obtain a non-proliferation agreement with Russia. The Senate voted unanimous approval of these efforts this week.

Problems
Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., former chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, commented: "Once you start transferring nuclear weapons around you have to start teaching people how to use them and how they are made and you have uncontrolled nuclear expansion."

Several battalions of South Vietnamese troops killed 20 Viet Cong in an engagement in An Xuyen Province, at South Viet Nam's tip, 180 miles southwest of Saigon.

American pilots were credited with killing 48 Viet Cong and destroying or damaging numerous enemy buildings and sampans in 368 sorties during a 24-hour period up to dawn. Vietnamese planes logged 219 sorties in support of ground operations.

B52 bombers from Guam struck for the second day in a row at enemy holdings south-east of Da Nang. The target was about 65 miles from Da Nang, where the political crisis threatened down battalions of rebel and government troops.

Monsoon rains persisted over North Viet Nam, limiting the American air offensive north of the 17th parallel for the seventh consecutive day.

War Rolls On

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Allied ground and air forces claimed further toll on Viet Cong manpower and supplies Saturday in countryside campaigning of a war now overshadowed by the political tumult in South Viet Nam's major cities.

Briefing officers told of developments:

A Communist battalion, engaged since Monday by U.S. air cavalrymen in the central highlands near An Khe, scattered under attack by helicopter-borne troops of Operation Crazy Horse. The troops, whose over-all casualties were described as light, killed 24 more of the enemy. That boosted the count of known dead to 122.

Two brigades of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division, trained in Hawaii for the jungle fighting, have destroyed dozens of enemy structures and trenches, killed 86 Viet Cong and captured 20 this week in a continuing sweep through rubber plantations and the Boi Loi woods 35 miles northwest of Saigon.

Carrying out a drive called Wanhwa, after an Oahu Island district, the infantrymen seized more than 23,000 rounds of small-arms ammunition, 89 tons of rice, 334 tons of other grain, 1,700 pounds of peanuts, and 3,800 yards of cloth.

Viet Nam until Communist aggression is halted.

U.S. Concern
Johnson conceded mounting concern and dissatisfaction among Americans with the course of events in Viet Nam.

Answering a question, he said: "The longer we are there, the more sacrifices we make, the more we spend, the more discontent there will be."

Taking the situation further, he added: "The more dissatisfaction there will be, the more wish and desire there will be to get out. Leading that parade is the President."

Oregon Primary First Big Test For Peace Candidates

WASHINGTON (AP) — This year's first voting in which Viet Nam policy is clearly a significant issue comes Tuesday in Oregon, one of four states holding primaries that day.

The others are Florida and Oklahoma, where the balloting will be in runoff for nomination for governor, and Kentucky, which makes nominations for the Senate.

The week also has a fifth primary Saturday in North Carolina.

Major Issue
Viet Nam has developed as a major issue in the Oregon contest for the Democratic nomination for the Senate.

Howard Morgan, 52, a former state Democratic chairman, is seeking the nomination with support from Sen. Wayne Morse, the state's senior Democratic senator and a vigorous critic of the Johnson administration's Viet Nam policies.

When Viet Nam has come up in the campaign, Morgan has expressed views broadly in accord with those of Morse.

The other principal contender for the nomination is Rep. Robert B. Duncan, 45, who is a strong supporter of President Johnson on Viet Nam.

There is also a third candidate, Gilbert Meyer, but political observers do not expect him to make much of a dent in the total vote.

Prominent
While the elections seldom turn on any one issue, Viet Nam has developed a prominence that will make the Morgan-Duncan returns a subject for close study by politicians the country over, regardless of the outcome.

And to a considerable degree, Morse has put his personal prestige on the line. He has

While he did not say so, it seemed apparent Johnson was expressing a wish to get out only after achieving his stated goal of thwarting Communist ambitions.

The President expressed the opinion that "a substantial majority" of Americans "do approve of the course of action that we have taken, and they do support their government."

Less Support
He spoke after publication of a Gallup poll reporting that — for the first time — fewer than 50 per cent of those questioned expressed approval of Johnson's handling of Viet Nam policy.

However, those voicing disapproval to the pollsters were fewer in number.

On other topics, Johnson said: The budget deficit for the bookkeeping year that ends June 30 will be less than $4 billion, compared with a January estimate of $6.4 billion. He said revenues are up while spending is being held at predicted levels, despite greater outlays for Viet Nam.

Asked about inflation worries, Johnson said "the cost-of-living record of the United States is far superior to the performance of any other major industrial country."

He reported the average annual increase in living costs here since 1960 had been less than 1½ per cent compared with 3 per cent in West Germany and 6½ per cent in Japan, with France, Britain and Italy ranging from 3½ to 5 per cent.

Shadowy CIA Now In The Limelight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk says there is a "tough struggle going on in the back alleys all over the world."

He referred to the dark workings of espionage. Much of it is prosaic research and the feeding of information into data processing machines.

Some of it involves the rarefied world of space science and the brain-busting mathematics of computer codes.

And some of it is hazardous work of nervous men.

So nervous, says Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., that even public Senate debate on the Central Intelligence Agency tends "to chill these sources of information... might cause them to clam up" in fear for their lives.

Struggle
Now the CIA finds itself in the limelight of a struggle over a move to change the Senate supervision of the big spy agency. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee is asking the Senate to expand the present watchdog panel by adding three of its own members.

The move promises a stiff floor fight and has already been challenged in debate by members of the present panel, the "Secret Seven" headed by Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga.,

Dispute
The dispute may come to a boil Monday, when Fulbright is expected to introduce the resolution in the Senate. Russell plans to try to sidetrack it.

Russell, who warned the Senate of the danger of leaks and too much talk about the CIA, said there had never been a "harmful leak" from the members of his CIA group.

The security is so careful, said Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., "we take no notes (at CIA briefings). Any notes that I take for the purpose of asking questions I tear up when we leave."

Sen. Milton R. Young, R-N.D., feels the responsibility strongly: "This is a difficult assignment, and sometimes I wish I were not on it... One has to be very careful what he says on almost any subject involving foreign affairs where the CIA might be involved."

He said he would not serve on a bigger group because of the danger of leaks.

He referred to widespread violations of the prohibition law in the nation's last dry state in his formal announcement and said he had decided to sign the bill after "four and a half days of intensive and prayerful consideration."

"This is the first time in the history of our state that your governor and the Tax Commission have been given both the authority and the means to assure the people that the prohibition laws will be enforced. On July 1, every county in the state of Mississippi will be a dry county. If the majority of the people in any county prefer to remain dry, then their county will be dry — without any compromise whatsoever."

Under the new law the majority of voters in a county can vote themselves out from under prohibition. The State Tax Commission will supervise the new liquor laws and all levels of law enforcement will be charged with upholding the law.

This state will have a monopoly on wholesale and retail package sales will be handled by private stores located in municipalities.

Liquor will be permitted by the drink in areas certified by the Tax Commission as resort areas. (Continued On Page Eleven)

Local Summer Theater Presents Big Challenge

Can 15 college students, coupled with area volunteers and quiet determination, produce the quality of civic summer theater that will draw central Illinois audiences from their accustomed stomping grounds in St. Louis, Springfield, and Sullivan?

The intriguing answer will begin to unfold June 2 and 3 as Illinois College's Hilltop Players unveil the premier season of "Summer Theater '66," this summer's civic theater project in Jacksonville, Illinois.

HEALTH AGENCIES PREVENT MEASLES EPIDEMIC IN '66

Dr. Franklin D. Yoder, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, said Friday that what could have been the worst measles epidemic in 10 years has been averted.

"Due to the wholehearted cooperation of local health departments, private physicians and parents in utilizing the measles vaccine, it is estimated that about 30,000 cases of measles were averted this past season, as compared to the reported cases in the last epidemic year, 1956."

A measles epidemic of major proportions was predicted for this spring. This year, cases reported in the early part of the measles season corresponded to the disease pattern of the 1956 epidemic.

The State Department of Public Health distributed 234,500 doses of measles vaccine to regional and local health departments and directly to physicians. It was used in immunization clinics, special school clinics, and well-baby clinics. It is estimated that physicians in the state purchased an equal amount of vaccine for use in their private practice. As a result, less than 12,000 cases were reported by the end of April for this measles season.

"Each year, about 225,000 babies are born in Illinois. If each child were immunized in the first year of life, measles and its complications could be virtually eliminated," Dr. Yoder concluded.

atrical company is not without the talent and credentials essential to success.

Audiences from all over central Illinois have regularly applauded such regular-season Hilltopper productions as "Guys and Dolls," Teahouse of the August Moon, and this season's musical "Oklahoma!"

Nor is the company lacking in recognition, being an integral part of the Illinois College dramatic department—which is a member of American National Theater Academy and American Educational Theatrical Association—professional theater societies.

The summer company will be headed by Miss Geraldine Staley, Illinois College director of dramatics who, in addition to producing Hilltopper productions for the past four years, has found time to star in "Look Homeward Angel."

Stack Players

Auditions open to area residents will be held prior to each production.

Don't try to separate refrigerator-chilled slices of bacon. Put the amount of bacon you need in a frypan and separate the slices as they heat. This saves you from tearing the slices.

Chilled rendered chicken fat may be used in the pastry when you are preparing a meat or poultry pie as a main dish.

College Profs Moving Out Of Poverty Class

By GEOFFREY GOULD
WASHINGTON (AP) — College professors may not be in the industrial tycoon class in salaries yet, but they are moving up.

Although there still are some "poverty cases" on the higher education scene, generally things are getting rosier every year for college and university faculties.

There have been a couple of recent appointments in New York State that even a tycoon might blink at in surprise.

The legislature has established some special chairs for both state and private universities that carry a $100,000 annual price tag. It wanted to provide an "apex of excellence" for the state educational structure.

Not all of this is salary. The professor must use it for travel, staff and research assistants.

Dr. C. N. Yang, Chinese-born Nobel Prize-winning physicist, was named to one of these professorships at the State University at Stony Brook. In his case, the personal salary component has been reported to be $45,000 a year.

Arthur Schlesinger Jr., who won the Pulitzer Prize for his "A Thousand Days" portrait of the years he spent in the White House with the late President John F. Kennedy, has just signed a contract for the $100,000 Albert Schweitzer Chair in Humanities at City University of New York.

These are exceptional cases, but the over-all picture isn't bad either.

The recent annual salary survey of the American Association of University Professors showed that Harvard University again led the nation with an annual average salary for all fulltime faculty members of more than $17,500 a year.

That average includes not only full professors, but associates, assistants and instructors.

Ranking second was the University of Chicago, in the $16,000 to $16,500 class. Right behind them at the same level was Parsons College of Fairfield, Iowa.

Parsons, a once-flourishing college, had 212 students and paid its professors an average of $3,600 a year when a new president took over in 1955.

The association study, based on figures voluntarily supplied by 905 universities and colleges, showed an average yearly salary of $9,816 for all faculty members combined. This is a nine-month salary for the academic year and does not reflect what other income a teacher might earn in summer employment, consulting fees and so on.

The show will be broadcast locally at 6:30, Monday evening, May 23 over Channel 7, Quincy.

100 Attend Alumni Banquet At Roodhouse

ROODHOUSE — Over 100 members and guests attended the annual Roodhouse Alumni banquet held May 14 at the First Baptist Church. Welcoming the guests was the president, Myron McClenning. Responding for the graduating class was Jean Van Tuyle.

The members of the twenty-five year class were introduced by C. T. Wilkinson; and Mrs. Doris Shuman Dillon spoke for the fifty-year class. Only one other member, Mrs. Clarence Denney, (Flutie Poor) was present.

A corsage was presented to Mrs. Anna Reynolds, Class of 1904, for being the representative of the oldest class. Rowe Lee, class of 1905, received a boutonniere.

J. Stanley Weis, Jacksonville, was the guest speaker and used for his topic, "Education for Age."

A sextet comprised of the following alumni furnished the vocal music for the program: Mrs. Byron McLamar, Mrs. W. E. Israel, Mrs. Ray Denney, Mrs. Dale Brant, Mrs. Bob Simonds with Mrs. H. L. Janvira at the piano.

Officers elected for next year are: president, Mrs. George Wollermann; first vice president, Kenneth Jackson; second vice president, W. E. Israel; secretary, Mrs. Beverly Shaw; treasurer, Mrs. Maurice Kelley.

The dinner was served by the Della Philaetha class. The tables carried out the school colors in red and white with matching spring flowers centering the tables. The table reserved for the North Greene class was decorated in blue and white.

The twenty-five year class held a reunion at the home of C. T. Wilkinson's mother, Mrs. J. B. Tipps following the banquet.

Cubed, oranges and cut-up prunes make an excellent addition to a tossed green salad that is to be served with ham.

Anatomy Of A Flash-Out

Guns against rocks, but everybody seemed to have fun. Tom Tiede reports on a demonstration in Saigon.

A fiery raid on a Saigon newspaper office . . .

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
SAIGON, Viet Nam — (NEA) — If the anti-everything demonstrations recently going on here weren't so serious, some of them would be quite funny.

To tell the truth, everybody taking part has rather a good time of it . . . shouting, snickering, singing, strutting, waving banners, and carrying on like an Oriental panty raid.

Indeed, it's kind of kicks, especially when they start throwing chemical bombs. Then it's a real gas.

Take one they had the other afternoon. Shortly before dusk, several hundred giggling teenagers grabbed their placards and began charging up one end of a dust-and dung-filled street.

At the other end, bayonets fixed, 22 Vietnamese soldiers strung out in a skirmish line and waited with wide grins.

It was to be a battle of tenacity vs. technology. The soldiers were outfitted with U.S. rifles, U.S. flak jackets, U.S. helmets, U.S. ammunition and tear gas bombs manufactured in Pennsylvania.

The kids, on the other hand, were armed with rocks—home-grown rocks.

The marchers stopped about 50 yards from the troops and there followed a few moments of confused merriment. Everybody kept pushing the kid next to him out in front. Girls squealed. Boys banted.

Then, suddenly, from mid-crowd, a rock flew. Then another until the air and pavement were filled with missiles.

The soldiers danced, ducked, and playfully protected a each other with wicker-woven shields painted green. They looked like something left over from the Hun wars.

Finally, at an order, the soldiers launched a counter-offensive. A khaki-clad sergeant, red-faced and somewhat embarrassed, tossed a half-dozen gas grenades in front of the frolicking demonstrators.

. . . is combined with skull swatting by Saigon cops.

The bombs hissed, popped and smoked. And everybody began to cheer.

In time, the street began to look like a back-yard brawl. People in shorts observed from the balconies of their homes. Infants ran around collecting used grenade casings. Street vendors did a brisk business in iced coconut milk upwind from the action.

But it was combat of a sort . . . with casualties even. Kids with swollen eyes guffawed as they stumbled over garbage cans. Gals with torn skirts shrieked and blushed. And fights within the fight broke out over who would carry the posters.

At first it appeared as if the youths wouldn't stand up under the gas. But then somebody began passing out sliced lemons for stinging eyes and plastic bags as make-do masks. And in a moment the Kids Korps was reorganized.

"Mau, mau," they shouted. "Let's rush 'em again!" And they did. And did again.

A crucial experiment in the flight plan for Gemini-9 prepares for the day when man in space may be faced with a supreme test of technical precision and human courage—the rescue of an astronaut stranded in orbit. The experiment calls for spacewalker Thomas Cernan, still connected by tether to the capsule, to hover motionless some 30 feet from Gemini-9. Command pilot Thomas Stafford will gently steer toward him. Goal is to bring the ship in close enough for Cernan to grab the nose without having to use his backpack propulsion and maneuvering unit.

BEARDSTOWN — The Berlin Wall and East Berlin added nothing in the way of enjoyment to an otherwise wonderful trip abroad for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dutch.

They have just returned following a deluxe jet tour which took them from New York City on April 14 to Portugal, Spain, Italy, Austria, Germany, Denmark and France.

"The wall was very depressing and left us all very sad," Charles Dutch, who is president of the First State Bank, said on his return.

"We felt we were in another world when we went into East Berlin," he added.

The explanation lies in the fact there are very few cars and very little activity—the tremendous difference in the economy of America-occupied West Berlin and the Russian zone is very apparent, according to Mr. Dutch.

He was allowed to take only $3 with him into the East zone and he brought most of that back.

"There was nothing to buy," he explained. "The store windows are junky and contain very little merchandise. It is much different in West Berlin."

The Beardstown man described the strict security action taken with all members of the party before their bus was allowed through Check Point Charlie and into East Berlin, and also before the return trip.

The Russians, he said, were making sure that no money was brought in to the natives, and that none of them escaped to the west.

Aside from the wall and the Russian zone of Berlin, however, the local couple found the many world capitals they visited beautiful and apparently prosperous.

They got the full treatment in Paris and Lisbon, Madrid, Rome, Vienna, and many other

Mr. and Mrs. Dutch made their trip about a year after their daughter, Miss Julie Dutch, a school teacher, toured Europe with two friends.

Sometimes when cream is served with coffee at a party, there's cream leftover in the refrigerator. You may want to whip it, sweeten it to taste and flavor it with a dash of salt and a little vanilla, and freeze it to have on hand to serve with a dessert. At serving time, offer the cream frozen or let it defrost.

Japan May Be Changing View On Nuclear Arms

By EUGENE LEVIN
TOKYO (AP) — A growing debate in Japan over its relations with the United States and Red China is bringing forth the first vague hint that the general Japanese attitude toward nuclear arms may be changing.

The debate, centered on the Japan-U.S. security treaty and Communist China's atomic weapon potential, has focused attention on controversial proposals for a Japanese military buildup.

In this country, that suffered the world's only atomic bombings, the whole idea of rearmament — especially with nuclear weapons — has been shunned for two decades.

Now the government is proceeding more boldly with plans for a defense buildup. It also is taking a subtle stand on the question of a nuclear proliferation treaty, leaving the way open for Japan to have its own atomic weapons as long as others do.

For years to come, the military buildup is likely to be a non-nuclear one, Japanese opposition to atomic bombs goes deep. The idea of a rearmament Japan, even without nuclear weapons, is enough to make other Asian nations shiver — and Japanese officials know this.

It all started with debate over the security treaty which gives the United States the right to maintain bases in Japan while pledging to help defend the Japanese. The treaty was revised in 1960 amidst bitter rioting that forced President Dwight D. Eisenhower to cancel a scheduled trip to Japan. Either country can request another revision after 1970.

The Japanese Socialist party, which often echoes a pro-Peking line, has long waged a campaign to scrap the treaty. The Socialists cite the Viet Nam war as a reason for getting rid of American bases in Japan. They say this country could find itself involved in an Asian war against its will.

The Viet Nam war has been one reason for the early debate on the treaty revision. Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's strategy also may be responsible. Some observers think he has deliberately plunged into the debate, saying the treaty should remain unchanged, in an attempt to sway public opinion. It is said that he does not want to wait until the last minute — 1970 — and find himself in the midst of new riots.

Some government supporters on the right agree with the Socialists that Japan should try to end its dependence on American military strength. But there is a difference. The Socialists want a defenseless Japan that trusts in the good will of its neighbors. The conservatives want a Japanese military buildup that would permit this country to defend itself.

With Japan showing a more independent line in world affairs and a vague tendency toward an Indian-type nonalignment, the chances of a defense buildup are becoming more likely.

3-Day Program Climaxes M'Murray Commencement

The 115th commencement of MacMurray College will be held next Sunday, May 29, climaxing a three-day program of events and festivities traditional to the 120-year-old liberal arts college in west central Illinois.

Festivities of commencement weekend begin with a president's luncheon on Friday, May 27, honoring those alumni, parents of students, and friends who represent the leadership among contributors in support of the college.

The first annual meeting of the newly-formed Joseph R. Harker Club, honoring MacMurray's president between 1893 and 1925, also will be held on Friday at 11:30 a.m.

Harker Club, with a charter membership of 25 persons, is composed of individuals whose gifts to the College are $1,000 or more annually.

Special activities on Friday for students will be the Men's Honor Society breakfast, recognizing senior men with outstanding scholarship records.

Friday's feature event will be the ceremonies of laying the cornerstone of the new men's residence hall on the corner of South Clay and East Chambers, which is the fourth to be added to the men's college complex on south campus.

The new building, scheduled to be opened in September, will house 148 men students.

Key alumni, student leaders, and civic leaders in Jacksonville will take part in the ceremonies prepared by the college chaplain, Dr. McKendree M. Blair.

Senior women, their mothers along with a alumnae and guests will attend a tea to be hosted by Miss Marjorie Gustafson, dean of women, on Friday afternoon between 3 - 5 in Ann Rutledge hall.

Alumni Day Saturday will be Alumni Day on campus with class reunions and the annual meeting of the MacMurray Alumnae association among the major events. Irma Latzer Gamble campus center will be the setting of the annual alumnae luncheon at noon.

Ten classes will hold reunions: 1916, 1921, 1926, 1931, 1936, 1941, 1946, 1951, and 1961.

The day begins with the Women's Honor Society breakfast in the campus center in honor of senior women with outstanding academic records.

The traditional president's reception for seniors and their parents and friends, trustees, alumni, faculty will be held between 5-6 p.m. in McClelland dining hall.

Saturday will be further highlighted with the traditional May Court ceremonies on the lawn of Ann Rutledge Hall at 6:30 p.m., and a performance of the College Theatre production, "Right You Are If You Think You Are" by Luigi Pirandello and directed by MacMurray's Philip H. Decker, assistant professor of speech and theatre arts. The public is welcome to the May Court ceremonies, cornerstone ceremonies as well as to baccalaureate and commencement.

In event of rain, the commencement ceremonies on Sunday afternoon will be held in Annie Merner Chapel.

Foot Health Essential Among School Children

On Annual Foot Health Week, the need for additional foot health education and examination programs among school children is essential. Proper foot hygiene and early preventive care, especially among our youth, will contribute significantly to alleviating serious problems later in life. It is recommended that local school systems consider initiating foot health programs and, to this extent, urge state podiatry societies to cooperate with the school officials.

Such a program for school children was conducted by the Berwyn, Illinois Board of Health in 1965 in which some 6,000 children from 11 public and three parochial schools were considered for foot health examinations.

The study revealed that, of those examined, 16 percent suffered from some type of foot disorder, including orthopedic problems and skin conditions. Further examination was recommended for approximately five percent with about two percent suffering from acute conditions. It was revealed that only slightly more than one percent of the children were already under professional care.

The American Foot Health Foundation is cooperating with the American Podiatry Association in developing programs and guidelines to assist in the promotion of foot health education and early care among the nation's school children.

Many of the foot problems found in today's adult population could have been prevented if professional advice had been sought in childhood. A great deal of the so-called "athletes foot" and "warts" found in our school children could be prevented if proper foot hygiene were practiced at school and home.

It may come as a surprise to some people that the majority of foot conditions in children such as ingrowing and outgrowing galls, flatfeet, bunions, arch problems and clubfeet are hereditary and have very little to do with shoes. It should also be added that shoes are of little value in treating these conditions if used alone. Professional advice from your podiatrist on all children's foot problems should be of prime concern to parents.

Illinois Prairie Girl Scout Council News

There'll be a new look at the Girl Scout Camp Shagbark on Lake Jacksonville this year. Members of the 1966 Camp Committee under Mrs. Marie Houlette as Chairman and Mrs. LeeRoy Jackson as Camp Shagbark Director started work on several phases of camp arrangement.

New unit sites have been laid out, many hidden in the woods so that Scouts of different age levels may camp in greater privacy. The flag-pole will be relocated for a better view of the main lake and a boating and wading area will be cleared. Trash burning and storage facilities will be removed from sight.

A primitive camping area beneath a grove of oaks will be opened up on land to the north of the main campsite.

A family camping and work weekend beginning Saturday noon of May 21 will enable Girl Scout families to lend a hand in readying camp for the first session which starts June 6. Four sessions will be held accommodating approximately 400 girls.

Dads and other willing workers are asked to bring hand tools to help in minor repairs on buildings, setting posts, and hanging gates. If time permits a waterfront area is to be cleared.

Families may reserve campsite space on a first-come, first-serve basis by calling the Illinois Prairie Girl Scout office, phone 5-4075.

A new electric motor has been installed at the well and cabin and area lighting improved. The Committee is looking for a large bell to be used in announcing camp activities. Also needed will be donations, for the camp period only, of life belts and jackets and lightweight rowboats. Anyone having these articles may discuss their loan with Mrs. LeeRoy Jackson or Mrs. Freeman at the Girl Scout office.

4-H Club Activities

Members of the Ebenezer Girls 4-H club toured the Capps clothing factory during a meeting held May 9. The group returned to North Jacksonville school for a business session conducted by club president Barbara Hess.

The pledges to the flags were led by Leslie McGinnis and Renee Murphy. The club's share-the-fun skit, which will be presented at Triopia High School June 8, was discussed. Activity talks were presented by Brenda Murphy, Mary Jo Flynn, Barbara Hansmeier, Nancy Oliver, Merry Ann Oliver, Karen Tomhave and Linda Patterson.

The June meeting will be held June 6 instead of June 13. Refreshments were served by Peggy Alexander and Barbara Hansmeier.

ARENZVILLE — A meeting of the Arenzville Indian Creek 4-H Club was held April 29 at the Arenzville Town Hall.

Two club members rated among the top five scorers in the Cass County Judging Contest. James Lovekamp ranked first in the county, with James Kleinschmidt in fourth place. Both boys are now eligible to participate in the state judging contest. Winners from other clubs in the county are Stanley Kormeyer, second place; Daniel Houston, third; Donald Staake, fifth.

Pittsfield Is Cleaning Up After Storm

PITTSFIELD — Tuesday night's storm damaged homes and businesses in the north part of Pittsfield and especially on North Dutton street. Clean-up operation is currently underway.

Kesterson's Shoe Repair shop was partially submerged by run-off water. The Pittsfield Machine Tool and Welding had two feet of water and the Robert Kattleman home had water up to the top of the basement. One family had to be evacuated by boat by volunteer fireman. Many other homes in that part of town reported water in their basements.

Approximately five inches of rain fell on Monday and Tuesday. The West Pittsfield business area, including the local broadcasting station, was without electric power all night Tuesday.

Neb., about 14 miles south of Pittsfield, was flooded causing major damage to the Nazarene church, numerous cars and trailers. The Honey Creek bridge approach on the Pittsfield-Neb. road, was washed out, and water from Honey Creek destroyed hog houses, tore out fences and flood gates on the Ross Doyle farm and other nearby farms.

Traffic was stopped for a short time on route 107, between Pittsfield and Griggsville Tuesday night when Bay and Blue creeks over flowed and flooded the highway. Water was up to the house on the Milburn Manker farm in this vicinity.

trict. One of the Republicans is Gene Snyder, a former Congress member. Another is George Ratterman, onetime pro football player. The district embraces some Louisville suburbs and extends to take in some Kentucky suburbs of Cincinnati.

Florida - Considerable heat and some overtones of racism have developed in the runoff campaign between Gov. Haydon Burns and Miami Mayor Robert King High for the Democratic nomination for governor.

"Blue-Vote" Burns has alluded to High as the "blue-vote" candidate, meaning he has Negro support. Scott Kelly, who ran third to Burns and High in the May 3 primary, has thrown his support to High and the runoff could be a cliff-hanger.

Oklahoma—This one settles contests in both Democratic and Republican parties for nomination for governor. Former Gov. Raymond Gary, who led a 13-man field in the first primary, is paired against Preston Moore, a former American Legion national commander, in the Democratic contest. Contending for the Republican nomination are state Sen. Dewey Bartlett and John N. (Happy) Camp, a Waukomis banker.

North Carolina—Sen. B. Everett Jordan is up for reelection and is opposed for the Democratic nomination by Hubert E. Seymour Jr., a Greensboro lawyer. John S. Shalcross is unopposed for the Republican nomination.

Of interest in the House contests is an effort by T. Lamar Caudle, onetime assistant attorney general in the Truman administration who was convicted of a tax fraud conspiracy, to win the Democratic nomination in the 8th District.

Caudle was sent to prison, received a parole and was pardoned last March by President Johnson. His primary opponent is John G. Plumides, a Charlotte lawyer. The district is now represented by Republican Charles A. Jones who has no opposition in the primary.

Young Man Sole Survivor Of Experiment

CENTREVILLE, Mich. (AP)

Larry Rink, 21, of Centreville, a courageous young man with a pregnant wife and an amputated leg, is the only survivor among four men who underwent an experimental cancer treatment last March.

Thomas E. Welker, 21, Rink's partner in the cancer cell transplant operation, died Thursday in a Conrad, Mont., hospital.

Two others who participated in a similar experiment, Robert F. Allen, 29, of Tucson, Ariz., and Harry T. Griffin, 63, of Flourtown, Pa., died earlier.

Doctors at Roswell Park Memorial Institute in Buffalo, N.Y., exchanged cancerous tissue between Walker and Rink, hoping to help each man's body develop resistance.

Rink said Saturday his doctor, Raymond Houghton, told him he was to return to Buffalo next week, perhaps for another transplant with a different partner.

Rink, whose first child is expected in September, says he's a little bit scared - but not much.

"Dad talked to the doctor last night," Rink said. "He said there's nothing to worry about. The doctors said my cancer is in the lymph gland. The others had it in the blood. They said I had a better chance. That sure made me feel better."

Rink said he was informed of Welker's death by his wife's sister-in-law, who heard the news on a local radio station.

Rink returned to work Wednesday, making window handles for mobile trailers in a plant at nearby Morrisville.

But Rink said he wouldn't go back to work until after his return from Buffalo. He doesn't know when that will be.

Rough Going

Most of the peace candidates are running in the big population states - nine in California and eight in New York.

But of the nine competing in California's June 7 primary, eight are running in districts now represented by Republicans.

The sole Democrat with a peace opponent is Rep. Jeffrey Cohen, whose district includes the University of California's Berkeley campus, a center of anti-administration ferment.

His opponent, Robert Scheer, is advocating immediate U.S. withdrawal from Viet Nam, while enlivening his campaign rallies with a night-club dancer.

Unopposed

One of the peace candidates, George Leppert, is unopposed for the nomination against Republican Rep. Charles S. Gubser in Santa Clara County.

In contrast to California, most of the peace candidates in New York are trying to unseat Democratic incumbents. The principal fight in the June 28 primary is in lower Manhattan between Rep. Leonard Farnstein, who has survived past contests with reform Democrats, and City Councilman Ted Weiss.

Other Democratic congressmen with similar opposition are Reps. Lester L. Wolff of Great Neck, Joseph P. Addabbo of Queens, Abraham J. Multer of Brooklyn and James R. Hanley of Syracuse. Both Wolff and Hanley are freshmen who unseated Republicans in 1964.

And in Brooklyn, veteran Rep. Edna F. Kelly faces the independent challenge of Communist leader Herbert Aptheker, whose platform strikes at "war, racism and McCarthyism."

Peace candidates also are seeking Democratic nominations against GOP Reps. Theodore R. Kupperman of Manhattan and Ogden R. Reid of Westchester County.

Other peace candidates include Democratic Bill Nicholson and John Josephs, running in New Jersey for seats now held by Reps. William B. Widnall, a Republican, and Henry Helstoski, a freshman Democrat.

John Fitzgerald, a Democrat, is running against Democratic Rep. Donald Irwin in Connecticut, and Robert Cook, an independent opposing Democratic Rep. Robert N. Giaimo in the same state; and Eugene S. Daniell, a New Hampshire Democrat who seeks to oppose Republican Rep. James C. Cleveland.

Democratic peace candidates running for the senate are Dr. David Frost, a science writer and college lecturer, who says he will run in New Jersey's Sept. 13 primary to oppose GOP Sen. Clifford P. Case, and Thomas B. Adams, seeking the Massachusetts seat being vacated by Republican Leverett Saltonstall.

The only Republican peace candidate in the field so far is William R. Martin, who plans to seek the seat of Democratic Rep. Harvey G. Machen in Maryland.

The governor signed the bill as the State Supreme Court considered a legal case that challenged the continuance of the old prohibition law.

Sources close to the governor said he abandoned his requirement for a statewide referendum only because he feared the Supreme Court might throw out prohibition and leave liquor uncontrolled and untaxed.

The end of prohibition in Mississippi will mark the last chapter in the "Grand Experiment" which culminated after World War I in this nation with the 18th Amendment, making the United States dry.

First on the firing line is an Explorer satellite set to blast off atop a Douglas Delta rocket at 10 a.m. EDT Tuesday. It is to probe mysteries of the upper atmosphere.

On Memorial Day, May 30, a Surveyor spacecraft is to streak toward a soft landing on the moon, carrying a television camera and devices to determine the hardness of the surface.

The Gemini 9 astronauts and their target satellite are to take off in separate launchings the morning of May 31. That night, an Orbiting Geophysical Observatory - OGO - is to blast into space to study physical properties of space and earth-sun relationships.

Three of the firings - Surveyor, OGO and the Gemini target - have Atlas boosters similar to that which failed last Tuesday and prevented an Agena from going into orbit for Gemini 9 to chase.

The launching of astronauts Thomas P. Stafford and Eugene A. Cernan was postponed. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration instituted a three-shift, round-the-clock operation calling for a launch two weeks later using a less sophisticated target satellite called an Augmented Target Docking Adapter - ATDA.

The ATDA has no propulsion system. Thus, the astronauts will not be able to execute a key test planned with the Agena - firing its powerful engine while the two vehicles were docked.

There is some speculation that Cernan might take two space walks instead of one to fill up extra time now available during the three-day flight.

A review board is to meet in Houston Tuesday to discuss the Gemini 9 atlas failure. The rocket and Agena plunged into the Atlantic Ocean when one of the three booster engines swiveled out of control two minutes after launching.

TWO ROOSEVELT U. STUDENTS ARRESTED

CHICAGO (AP) - Two persons demonstrating against Roosevelt University's policy on supplying grade information to draft boards were arrested Saturday when they refused to leave the building at closing time.

The arrests brought to 31 the total number of persons arrested at the university since demonstrations began Thursday.

The pair arrested Saturday took off about 20 minutes after the fire, which was quickly extinguished by military personnel.

A third helicopter landed shortly afterward and took off others in the presidential party. The President was expected to remain at Camp David at least until Sunday night.

A White House source said later the blaze in the backup helicopter was an exhaust stack fire caused by flooding at idling speeds. It was something that could not happen in the air, he said.

Saute strips of green pepper in butter, then add seasoned beaten eggs and scramble. The combination makes a delightful sandwich filling when layered between the two halves of a crusty roll.

Stock Market Levels

NEW YORK (AP) - The plunging stock market and the soaring economy both seemed to be leveling off during the past week.

The stock market, on a skid since last February, staged two rallies but still showed a loss on most indicators. One expert said it was only a "temporary bottom."

A sign of leveling off in the economic boom was a slowdown in the advance of personal income. It rose $1.7 billion in April, but the gain was far less than the $4 billion chalked up in March.

At a meeting of the Business Council in Hot Springs, Va., Gardner Ackley, chairman of President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers, said some of the "tremendous exuberance" had left the economy.

While the stock market declined on most indicators for the fourth straight week, the Dow Jones Industrial average showed a gain of 78 to 876.89. The Dow average reached a record high of 995.15 last Feb. 9.

But of 1,586 issues traded during the week, losers outnumbered gainers 960 to 488, and The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 2.1 to 319.0.

The slowdown in the business boom was underscored by Federal Reserve Board report that industrial output in April had risen more slowly than in other recent months.

Many businessmen said it seemed that natural forces would slow the economy without a tax increase.

The bond market was mostly lower for the week in unusually quiet trading.

Corporates generally were down one-half of a point for the week. Tuesday bonds were down fractionally. Of the 40 Treasury issues, 22 declined, 7 advanced and 10 were unchanged.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP) - Prices showed little day to day change this week in the butcher hog market although the supply of 29,500 head for the period was the largest in four weeks and up 2,000 from a week ago.

For the week, though, prices finished 75 cents to $1.25 higher.

The top price of $25 was paid on only one day, as last week. And, as a week ago, the spread of peak prices was only 30 sides restated their positions without any sign of a possible compromise.

Kauai King Tops Preakness Field

BALTIMORE (AP) — Kauai King, the front running winner of the Kentucky Derby, came from off the pace Saturday and won the $181,500 Preakness to move within one victory of the coveted triple crown for three-year-old thoroughbreds.

Taking the lead with a little more than one eighth of a mile to go, the Maryland-bred son of Native Dancer-Sweepin' charged to the wire for a two length victory over Stupendous. Amberoid was another 4 1/2 lengths back for third place in the field of nine.

Kauai King, owned by Michael J. Ford of Omaha, Neb., thus moved into position where he needs only a victory in the Belmont Stakes June 4 to become the first Triple Crown winner since Citation did it in 1948.

The victory in the 91st Preakness, run on a bright, sunny day before 36,114, was worth $129,000 and boosted the King's bankroll for the year to $369,027.

Kauai King jumped out in front at the start, just as he did in the Kentucky Derby. But Stupendous, from Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Wheatley Stable, took after him and shortly after they had gone one-quarter of a mile Stupendous went ahead under the guidance of Braulio Baeza.

Don Brumfield, 20-year-old Kentucky runner-up on the King, made no effort to regain the lead as Stupendous reeled off the first six furlongs in 1:10 3-5. As much as two lengths separated them down the back stretch, with Blue Skyer and Indulo closest in pursuit.

With one-half mile to go, Brumfield made his challenge. He moved within one length of Stupendous rounding the bend, drew even at the quarter pole and 1-16 of a mile later was out in front.

After Stupendous had reeled off a sizzling early pace, the mile was clocked in 1:26 2-5 and Kauai King hit the finish line in 1:55 2-5. The record of 1:54 3-5.

Foy's Hit Lifts Boston To 6-5 Victory In 9th

BOSTON (AP) — Joe Foy led off the ninth inning with a triple and scored on Jim Gosger's single, giving the Boston Red Sox a 6-5 victory over Kansas City Saturday.

After Foy tripled, Jack Aker walked Mike Ryan intentionally. One-out later Foy eluded a run-down on Rico Petrocelli's grounder, getting back to third safely, and then scored.

Carl Yastrzemski hit two homers for Boston, before Gosger tied the game 5-5 with a run-scoring double in the seventh. Kansas City 010 040 000-5 6 1 Boston 100 201 101-6 9 0

Back of the first three horses in order came Rehabilitate, Indulo, Advocate, Exceedingly, Understanding and Blue Skyer. Advocate and Blue Skyer were the big disappointments since they had finished two-three respectively behind Kauai King in the Kentucky Derby.

"When Stupendous started to run with me, I wasn't worried one bit," Brumfield said. "I didn't lay a stick on the King or say a word until going around the final turn when I gave him a couple of cracks with the whip and he took off."

"In the middle of the home stretch when my horse started to lay in a little bit on Stupendous I hit the King left-handed and he pulled off so fast I had him well in hand as we went across the finish."

The time was the second fastest in Preakness history.

OSU Clinches Big Ten Crown In Diamond Win

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State University clinched the Big Ten baseball title Saturday, winning up with a 6-0 record after its doubleheader with Iowa was rained out. The games were canceled.

Minnesota, with a 9-2-1 record through Friday was scheduled to meet Indiana in a double-header Saturday.

The Bucks had been plagued with washouts all season, but managed to topple their closest rival, Minnesota, in Columbus Friday with a 6-4 victory, winning with a four-run eighth inning rally.

a two-horse race with Stupendous going after the favorite just as trainer Eddie Nelyoy had indicated he would.

Second place was worth $30,000, third $15,000 and fourth $7,500.

Kauai King was not nominated for the 1 1/2 mile Belmont Stakes, but Ford said the $10,000 supplementary fee would be in New York officials' hands within a few days. The horse, accompanied by Ford, will leave here Tuesday and will be quartered at Belmont Park.

The winning margin was announced as two lengths, but the official chart caller later ruled it was 1 1/4 lengths.

Eckert Predicts Expansion Move

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Baseball Commissioner William Eckert predicts both major leagues may expand to 12-club circuits in "eight to ten years" but in the interim, any changes probably will be limited to franchise moves.

The commissioner added, "I know of no plans to move a franchise."

Young Jockey Killed In Fall During Practice

RATON, N.M. (AP) — A 26-year-old jockey at La Mesa Park was killed Saturday when thrown from a horse he was training at the Raton track.

Johnny Duran of Raton was dead on arrival at a Raton hospital of a broken back and internal injuries, doctors said.

Duran was riding a 2-year-old filly, Nasrugal, down the home stretch and crowding the rail, a witness said. The horse seemed to trip over the rail and fall.

Duran was thrown on his back. It wasn't known if the horse rolled on top of him. The filly, which has never been in an actual race, lay motionless for about three minutes and then got up.

Duran had been riding at La Mesa for several seasons. He had finished in the money on 11 of 39 mounts this season.

I Didn't Like Doing It: Clay

LONDON (AP) — "I didn't want it to end like that," Cassius Clay said. "I don't like doing this to anybody. It's against my religion. It's against my feelings."

Clay was back in his dressing room after opening an eight-stitch cut over the left eye of Henry Cooper and stopping the Briton in 1:38 of the sixth round of their world heavyweight championship fight Saturday night.

Bloody Bout

The sleek, young champion from Louisville, Ky., was smeared with the blood of the Cockney challenger, whose face was a gory mess when the fight was stopped. Blood had splattered all over the ring and onto the notepaper of reporters at ringside.

"I don't mind admitting I was a bit disturbed by all that blood," Clay said. "I didn't really want the violence to continue. I don't really like hurting anyone. It's against my religion, as I said."

Clay, who appeared scarcely out of breath, added:

"Cooper did very well there for a while. He hurt me with one left in the third round

"It was a left, and then a right and a right that did the damage to Cooper's eye. It was the same sort of punch that cut up old Sonny Liston in our first title fight."

No Plans Yet?

"The immediate future is not clear. I could be meeting Karl Mildenberger of Germany. Or it could be Doug Jones. On the score it looks more like Jones."

"The fight was harder than I expected for those first five rounds."

Cooper said he was convinced that it was a blow by Clay's head — a butt — that opened the deep, three-inch gash over his eye.

A doctor treated Cooper for 25 minutes in his dressing room before allowing newsmen to enter.

"It is a very bad, deep, long cut, and it will need at least eight stitches," Dr. Paul Saville said.

Cooper was far from despondent over his showing.

"I thought I won the early rounds," he said. "I got in one strong left hook to the chin in the third and I was forcing the fight all the time."

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Ohio State swept the Big Ten golf championship Saturday, burying runnerup Michigan by 22 strokes to clinch its first title since the days of Jack Nicklaus five years ago.

The Buckeyes finished 72 holes on the University of Iowa's South Finkbine course in 1,480 strokes. Michigan had 1,502, and defending champion Purdue placed seventh with 1,526.

Cubs Gain 7-6 Edge In 10th On Hundley's HR

ATLANTA (AP) — Randy Hundley hit a two-out homer in the 10th inning, lifting the Chicago Cubs past Atlanta 7-6 Saturday.

Hundley's homer, over the left field fence, came after Chi Chi Olivo struck out Ernie Banks and Byron Browne.

Hank Aaron tied the game 6-6 for Atlanta in the seventh inning, belting his 15th homer of the season in a pinch-hit role. Aaron didn't start because of a slight knee injury and the rain-soaked condition of the field.

Chicago had gone ahead 6-5 in the top of the seventh on a pinch-hit solo homer by George Altman and a sacrifice fly by Ernie Banks with the bases loaded.

The Cubs opened the scoring in the first on Billy Williams bases-empty homer, his second of the year. Williams, batting 175 before the game, snapped his slump by driving in three runs.

Devlin Up By 3 In Colonial

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Australian Bruce Devlin called a penalty on himself and took three more boogies on finishing holes Saturday but still held his lead of three strokes in the $110,000 Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament.

He shot a par 70 for a 205 over 54 holes.

Gene Littler remained in second place, firing a par 70 for 208.

The third round finished in bright, hot sunshine after a delay of an hour and a half in starting because of rain.

Devlin started with birdies on two and four but took a bogey 5 on the sixth hole when he called a penalty shot against himself for accidentally stroking the ball while it was in a trap. But he banded a birdie on nine and ended on par 11 and pulled to eight-under-par for the distance.

Then came his lapse that saw him take bogeys on 13, 15 and 17 as the temperature soared to 87 degrees, with high humidity.

Devlin's 205 was two strokes over the tournament record for 54 holes, set by Clayton Heafner in 1948.

As the 7,123-yard Colonial Country Club course dried out from the terrific rains of early morning, the scores dipped accordingly.

Tied for third at 210 were Jack McGowan, who shot a 68; R. H. Sikes, who had a 67, and Gay Brewer, who had 68.

U.S. Net Squad Sews Up Series

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — The United States clinched an American Zone Davis Cup semifinal series against the West Indies Saturday when Cliff Richey won the first of the last two singles.

Richey, from Dallas, Tex., scored a 6-3, 6-3, 6-2 triumph over Lance Lumsden and gave the United States an unbeatable 3-1 lead in the best-of-5 series.

Arthur Ashe of Los Angeles later beat Richard Russell 8-6, 6-4, 8-6 to close out a 4-1 U.S. triumph.

The victory, still in doubt after the West Indies scored a surprise triumph in the darkness-delayed doubles, sends the United States into the American Zone final against Mexico.

Lumsden teamed with Richard Russell of Jamaica to upset Ashe and Charlie Passarel 6-4, 7-9, 14-12, 4-6, 6-5 in the doubles Saturday.

Russell and Lumsden broke Ashe's service in the third game of the fifth set and held on the rest of the way in the completion of a match halted by darkness Friday.

Eye Gash Forces Ref To Stop Title Fight

LONDON (AP)—Cassius Clay who wrested the crown from Sonny Liston at Miami Beach Feb. 24, 1964, and defended it successfully against Liston, Floyd Patterson and Canadian George Chuvalo.

Beginning Of End

In the early seconds of the sixth, the champion pressed Cooper into the corner and then lashed out with a right and left combination — fast as the tongue of a snake.

Cooper's knees didn't buckle but an ugly gash appeared over the Briton's left eye and blood poured out profusely.

The referee permitted another brief exchange before examining the wound. He looked and ordered the fighters to resume.

Then Clay began pecking away at the gash, and blood poured like a small rivulet. Then Referee Smith gave in to mercy.

Cooper's body was smeared with blood and the canvas of the outdoor ring was splattered with red. His left eye was a gory mess.

Clay was relatively unmarked.

"Clay said afterward that 'Cooper was hitting hard, harder than I looked. My job was to box, stick and move.'"

The champion, at a light 201 1/2 pounds to 188 for Cooper, called the challenger a "fast, tough, determined fighter."

"It's unfortunate that he cuts so easily," Clay added. "I started with my best. Cooper was determined to knock me out. He hit awful hard. If he didn't cut so easy, it would've been hard to knock him out in nine or 10 rounds."

"I was doing my best. Don't forget at 201, I was much lighter than I was for the Liston and Chuvalo fights. And I've been under so much pressure and strain from every angle."

Clay said his next title defense would be against Karl Mildenberger of Germany.

Clay's portion of the purse was figured to be $280,000 with Cooper getting $112,000.

The bout was telecast live to the United States via the Early Bird satellite. It also was beamed over closed-circuit television to Britain and carried on European television.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Willie McCovey hit a two-run homer and scored another run as the San Francisco Giants defeated the New York Mets 4-3 Saturday.

The Mets scored all their runs in the first inning, but McCovey made it 3-2 with his homer in the Giants' half of the inning.

He then triggered the Giants' two-run third inning rally by beating out a slow roller. Jim Hart followed with a single, McCovey scored on a passed ball by John Stephenson and Hart scored on a single by Cap Peterson.

Spartans Repeat As Big Ten Track Champs

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Four meet records were logged Saturday, two of them by Michigan State's Spartans, who captured their second straight Big Ten outdoor track and field championship.

Michigan State, also winner last March of the indoor crown, piled up 52½ points to 43 for second place Iowa.

Minnesota was third with 33, followed by Michigan, 32; Wisconsin, 31; Northwestern, 15; Illinois, 11½; Indiana, 6; and Ohio State and Purdue, 4 each.

880 Run in 1:48. Topping the Spartans were sophomore John Spain, whose 1:48 flat was the world's fifth fastest in the 880 this year and topped the Big Ten record of

1:50.1, first set by Illinois' George Kerr in 1959 and matched by Iowa's Bill Frazier in 1962, and junior Bob Steele. Steele sped the 440 intermediate hurdles in one of the fastest times anywhere this year in 50.7. It goes into the book as a record since this event was a new one. John Reimer of Iowa, last year's winner in the shorter 330 yard distance, was second in 52 flat.

Michigan State's only other individual winner on the 15-event program inaugurating Indiana University's new Billy Hayes track was football star Gene Washington in the 120 high hurdles. He was the only defending champion to repeat. Washington's time of 13.8 was disallowed for a meet record because of wind assistance. Earlier Saturday, Bob White, an Indiana sophomore, set a record in the semifinal trial heat of 13.9. After that, the wind increased.

The old high hurdles record of 14.0 was shared by three.

New Shotput Mark. The other record came in the shotput with Jack Harvey, Michigan junior, tossing 57-2½. It cracked the 56-11½ by Minnesota's Bob Henry in 1958.

The only double winner was Iowa senior Denny Kohl, capturing the 100 in 9.6 and the 220 in 20.6. His time for the 220 around a curve was under the meet record of 20.8, but was disallowed because of wind assistance.

Other champions included: 440, Steve Whipple of Wisconsin in 47.7; 660, sophomore Mike Mondane, Iowa, in 1:17.7; mile run, Craig Boydston, Northwestern, in 4:09.2; two-mile Lee Assenheimer, Northwestern, in 9:07.9; discuss, Bob Donnelly, Michigan, 166-5; long jump, Tom Atkinson, Wisconsin, 21-8½; high jump, Rick Hunt, Michigan sophomore, 6-6½; and pole vault, Bill Burnette, Iowa, 15-4. Canamare also went 15-4, but Brunette got the title on the basis of fewer misses.

Michigan State's mile relay team of Mike Martens, Rick Dann, Daswell Campbell and Spain won with 3:10.9. Minnesota was second and Iowa's defending champion was third.

Big Ten Track Results

Long Jump (held Friday) — 1, Tom Atkinson, Wisconsin, 24-8½; 2, Wendell Bjorklund, Minnesota, 24½; 3, Jim Garrett, Michigan State, 23-11½; 4, Ben Mc Gilmer, Iowa, 23-8½; 5, Dick Gibbs, Iowa, 21-1½.

Two English Rowers Begin Atlantic Crossing

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — Two robust Englishmen, a final hot meal in their stomachs, went out in the near-noonday sun Saturday and began a trip home the hard way.

They plan to row the perilous Atlantic in a 15-foot craft called the Puffin.

Hundreds of camera-toting onlookers lined the Virginia Beach ocean front as David Johnstone, 34, of Farnham-in-Surrey and John Hoare, 29, of Leicester turned their tiny boat eastward and took the first pull on their oars.

Johnstone, wearing a sweat-shirt emblazoned with the words "Virginia Beach, Va.," and Hoare, dressed in khakis and a T-shirt, hope to break a 55-day record set 70 years ago.

Johnstone said he had no misgivings about the trip. "I'm looking forward to getting out there and meeting all," he said. Hoare said he was "straining at the bit right now."

A reporter from the London newspaper People, Bob Taylor, said of the husky seafarers: "Those two men are not mad, irresponsible fools attempting the impossible. They are the men of the determination that gave Britain the command of the seas for hundreds of years."

Taylor, who has followed Johnstone and Hoare since the trip originated, said he will make his last contact with the men Sunday. He will fly out in a Coast Guard plane which will drop a water-tight bag containing the Puffin's exact position and weather forecast. "Then," Taylor said, "they're on their own."

By then, Johnstone, a 245-pounder, and Hoare, a muscular 200-pounder, should be approaching the Gulf Stream 60 miles out. They plan to hitch a ride on the warm current to Britain's shores.

The transatlantic rowboat record he and Hoare are trying to break was set in 1896 by George Herbo and Frank Samuelson of New Jersey, who left New York June 6 and reached the Scilly Isles off Land's End, England, on July 31 in the 18-foot dory Fox.

Though the Puffin is tiny, she is loaded with a ton of food, water and equipment. The craft also contains six sets of oars and various pieces of safety equipment.

The loss of a short wave radio held up the scheduled after-breakfast start until nearly 11:15 a.m. EDT. The radio was replaced.

A bright sun burned off a Saturday morning fog and the sea was calm.

Two other Englishmen who attempted to make a race with Johnstone and Hoare also plan a rowing trip across the Atlantic. Capt. John Ridgway, 27, and Sgt. Shay Blyth, 26, two British paratroopers, are to leave next week from Massachusetts.

Cardenas rapped his double in the fourth inning after Don Pavletich walked and Deron Johnson singled.

Johnson also homered in the sixth, and Art Shamsky connected in the eighth for the Reds.

CHICAGO (AP) — Danny Carter's two-run single in a five-run first inning uprising kayowed Cleveland ace Sam McDowell and the Chicago White Sox went on to a 7-2 victory Saturday.

The triumph ended Chicago's losing streak at five. McDowell, who came into the game with a 4-0 record including a pair of one-hit shutouts, failed to retire a man in his brief stint.

McDowell walked leadoff man Al Weis on four pitches and Don Buford followed with a single. Tommie Agee drove in the first run with a single.

Johnny Romano singled Buford home and took second on the throw to the plate. Gene Freese was given an intentional pass but Cater singled for two more runs, sending McDowell to the showers.

Bloom Distant Second, Five New Records Set

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Illinois high school stars toppled records in five events and tied one other in a meet climaxed Saturday by Evanston's recapture of the state title.

Evanston's 30 points were followed by 21 turned in by another Cook County suburban school, Bloom of Chicago Heights.

Jacksonville high jumper Ron Coleman, who moved into Saturday's finals with a 6'1" jump Friday, failed to score in the finals. Coleman cleared 6'2", but was eliminated at the 6'3" height.

The best downstate total came from East St. Louis, 15½, for third place.

The assault on records was believed the most effective in recent years.

47.3 In 440. One of the best individual performances was a 47.3 time in the 440-yard dash by Bill Bahrneth of Palatine to shatter the 48.4 of Thom Walters, Urbana, in 1961. Charles Berether of Urbana also surpassed the old mark.

Another record fell in the 880-yard relay, where East St. Louis won with 1:28.1, a tenth of a second under the time of Taft of Chicago in 1961.

In another remarkable team performance, York of Elmhurst clipped off the mile relay in 3:18 to eclipse the 3:20 record set in Friday's preliminaries by Rockford Auburn. Auburn had smashed the 3:20.3 mark set in 1964 by New Trier of Winnetka.

The tie mark was established by Lonell Poole of Bloom of Chicago Heights, with 18.9 in the 180 low hurdles. John Wright of Wheaton set the mark in 1964.

Because of excessive favoring wind at the time, the 14.2 time set by John Johnson of Champaign in the 120-yard high hurdles is not being accepted as a tie of the record set by John Smith of Maine, Des Plaines in 1961.

Two more records were set Friday. Tom Bayless of East St. Louis threw the discus for 175-5½. Roy Houston of Evanston went to 24.4 in the long jump.

Allen Deppe of Trico, Campbell Hill, was the only double winner of the meet. He captured the 100-yard dash and the 220-yard dash.

Other winners: Other champions were: Rick Wohlbuter, St. Charles, 880-yard run, 1:52; Ken Ward, Proviso East, Maywood, mile run, 4:20; Harshel Benberry, Bloom, Chicago Heights, shot put, 59-5; Chris Hill, Glenbard West, Pole Vault, 14; and Steven Campbell, Evanston, High Jump, 6-5.

Houston and Steve Campbell led the Evanston's march to a second consecutive team victory. Houston captured 6 points for the long jump and 2 more for placing in the 440-yard dash. Campbell picked up the six points for taking the high jump first.

Disappointments of the meet were the failure to set records for the high jump and the pole vault. Both records had been exceeded during the season.

120-yard high hurdles — 1, John Johnson, Champaign; 2, Lonell Poole, Bloom, Chicago Heights; 3, Ronald Zaeske, Deerfield; 4, Eric Mansker, Marshall, Chicago; 5, Melvin Hilliard, Phillips, Chicago. 14.2 (ties Illinois interscholastic record of John Smith, Maine, Des Plaines, 1961).

100-yard dash — 1, Allen Deppe, Trico, Campbell Hill; 2, Mack Herron, Farragut, Chicago; 3, Larry Erickson, Morton West, Berwyn; 4, Dave Jenkins, Bloom, Chicago Heights; 5, Richard Lewis, Evanston, 9.9.

880-yard run — 1, Rick Wohlbuter, St. Charles; 2, John Davis, New Trier East, Winnetka; 3, Mike Waters, Moline; 4, Jack Pollard, Prospect, Mount Prospect; 5, Tom Freeman, West Frankfort, 1:52.

880-yard relay — 1, East St. Louis; 2, Proviso East of Maywood; 3, Evanston; 4, Auburn, Rockford; 5, Farragut, Chicago. 1:28.1 (New Illinois interscholastic record. Old record 1:28.2, Taft, Chicago (Fred Meyer, Wayne Anderson, David Bone, Larry Albertson 1961).

David Prince Subject Of Medical Journal Article By Norbury

"David Prince—Pioneer Surgeon" is the title of a biographical article written by Dr. Frank B. Norbury of Jacksonville which appears in the May issue of the Illinois Medical Journal.

The article commemorates the one hundred-fiftieth anniversary of the birth of David Prince, one of Jacksonville's most illustrious citizens of the 19th century.

David Prince was born in Brooklyn, Connecticut in 1816 and received his medical education in Fairfield, New York, and Cincinnati, Ohio. He came to Jacksonville in 1843 to become the Professor of Anatomy and Surgery at the Illinois College Medical School.

Illinois College operated a Medical School from 1843-1848, with classes first in Beecher Hall and later in a frame building on the corner of Mound and Lincoln Avenues, (now the site of the Arthur French residence).

The Medical School was closed in 1848 largely because of competition from schools in the larger cities of St. Louis and Chicago, and David Prince went to St. Louis briefly to teach in a medical school there.

He returned to Jacksonville in 1852 and married Lucy Manning Chandler, niece of Dr. Charles Chandler who was the founder of Chandlerville, Illinois and a close friend of Abraham Lincoln.

The Princes established a home and office at the corner of West State and Fayette Streets, (now the site of the Lukeman Motor Company).

Dr. Prince was active in the anti-slavery movement in Jacksonville and in establishment of the Jacksonville State Hospital.

Medical Society Founder
He was a founder of the original Morgan County Medical Society and the Illinois State Medical Society.

His medical practice was interrupted by the Civil War in which he served with distinction as a Brigade Surgeon in McClellan's Army of the Potomac.

Confederate Prisoner
Captured by the Confederates when he attempted to rescue a group of wounded men after the Battle of Malvern Hill on July 1, 1862, he was taken to the Libby Prison in Richmond.

He was later exchanged and returned to Jacksonville. In 1863, he was elected Vice-President of the American Medical Association.

First Operating Room
In 1867, he established Jacksonville's first surgical operating facilities, the Jacksonville Surgical Infirmary, located on Sandy Street just off the Square, (now the site of the R and M Electric Company).

By the 1890's, 3,000 patients a year were treated there by David Prince and his associates which included at various times his sons, Arthur and John, and Dr. Greene V. Black, W.H. King, William Hargrove, and G. N. Kreider.

Prince became internationally renowned in Orthopedic and Plastic Surgery, performing in Jacksonville complicated cleft palate repairs, tube-grafts to restore chins, noses and eyelids, and designed instruments and methods of fracture repair over 20 years before x-rays were discovered.

His books on these subjects were widely read and modern-day surgeons have commented on his brilliance and his pioneering techniques.

He travelled widely, presenting lectures all over the United States and twice in Europe. In addition, he devoted a great deal of time to public affairs in Jacksonville, serving for many years on the School Board and the Library Board and as a Director of several companies, including the JACKSONVILLE JOURNAL.

Letters from his travels were published in the JOURNAL and can still be read on the microfilm copies available in the Public Library.

His death in 1899 was mourned by many persons. He is buried in Diamond Grove Cemetery. The David Prince Building at the Jacksonville High School was named for him in honor of his devotion to the public schools.

Safety Lane Passes 1965 Total Numbers With 3,643 Checked

Jacksonville's 12th annual Safety Check Lane went over the 1965 figure Saturday, as police again successfully completed another step in traffic safety for the city.

Despite a slow start Saturday, a total of 734 vehicles checked in at the lane, registering the largest number of cars posted in a one-day operation of the lane.

According to Co-chairmen John Smith and Gerald Samples an unofficial total of 3,643 vehicles were examined during the week-long operation.

Last year's figure was 3,628. During the final day's operation, Jaycees assisted with the lane.

Samples and Smith commented that during the week, Illinois State Police who assisted were Sgt. Merle Balke, Cpl. Eberly Fair, Troopers Charles Bailey, Charles Pritchard, Andrew Plantz, Richard Owens, Kenneth Lawson and Ray Hamilton.

From the Secretary of State's office were Sgt. Don Sanderson, and Investigator Elmer Lewis, and Drivers' License Examiners Ralph Kelly and John Eades.

When the lane opened Saturday morning, the Mid-State Photo Lab fleet of cars passed through the lane.

Residents Help-Out
Smith said that Saturday several residents made additional efforts to bring cars through the lane in order to prevent possible mechanical defects.

Orville Kelly of the Auto Mart brought several used cars through the lane, along with Walter Miles of Miles Used Car lot.

Also assisting at the lane was Jerard Hopper, who brought approximately 20 cars to the lane from the John Ellis Chevrolet company, and Glisson Ford.

During the week, officers noted that the Weaver light machines, used to check headlights, were furnished by Allied Motors and United Wholesalers. Ralph Kelly, Secretary of State's drivers' license examiner, revealed that he had a total of 71 persons renew their operators' license, and 70 report a change of address.

Hats-Off
Local police doffed their hats to the following automobile dealers for their assistance at the lane, Allied Motors, John Ellis Chevrolet, DeWitt Motors, Lukeman Garage, Cox Buick-Pontiac, Glisson Ford, E. W. Brown Motors, Reeve Motors and Stubbfield Garage.

Smith said that during the bicycle safety check lane Saturday, sponsored by AMVET post 100, a total of 29 city bicycle licenses were sold among 151 vehicles checked.

Samples and Smith announced, "We wish to thank all of the people of the community, and neighboring communities for their participation at the lane during the week."

"We hope that many of those who were at the lane, and witnessed its operation, learned some of the factors that are involved in maintaining a motor vehicle in safe operating condition."

Local Household Science Club Is 81 Years Old

The Jacksonville Household Science club observed its 81st anniversary with a guest meeting on May 17. Luncheon was followed by a program on the Holy Land, presented by a club member, Mrs. William C. Gross.

With colored slides and appropriate commentary Mrs. Gross shared with members and guests a personal visit recently made to this land of great historical and religious significance. It was emphasizing that Jerusalem, a holy city of Jews, Christians and Moslems, lies partly in the state of Israel and partly in the kingdom of Jordan. Pictures and commentary were presented in the chronological order of events in the life of Christ.

Preceding the program Mrs. John T. Taylor, president, included in her words of welcome a brief history of the club which was organized on February 27, 1885.

Arrangements for the meeting were made by Mrs. Kenneth Mangan, program chairman, assisted by Mrs. Albert Pearce and Mrs. Harold Per-bix.

The Village Of South Jacksonville Deserves Fair Treatment

A number of years ago when the issue of annexation was before the voters of the city and the village we strongly urged a favorable vote for a united municipal government because we then believed, as we still do, that annexation would prove advantageous to all concerned. We pointed out that the residents of South Jacksonville could obtain more in the way of municipal service for less money if they joined the city. However, a large majority of the village voters did not see it that way. They registered a decided preference for maintaining their independent status. Since that time the village has come a long way in improving its government and its facilities.

Now the representatives of South Jacksonville are negotiating with city officials in an effort to purchase raw water from the river pipeline, proposing to build their own treatment plant. They are seeking to avoid a 250% boost in charges for city water and sewer.

South Jacksonville owns and services its own water mains and sewers and its residents pay 20% more in water rates than customers within the city limits.

It is to be hoped that the negotiations will proceed in good faith with the following principles in mind:

1. Any idea of forcing annexation through exorbitant water and sewer charges should be abandoned.
2. The city deserves a fair return on its plant investment.
3. The feasibility of the raw water proposal should not be dismissed without careful study. Presumably the pipe line is capable of supplying plenty of water.
4. The residents of South Jacksonville should be given a fair break in the purchase of raw water as industrial concerns, some of which are located outside the city boundaries. The same is true of sewerage treatment service.
5. Once a fair agreement has been arrived at, a long term contract should settle the issue for a reasonable period of time.

After all, this is one community. By the sheer force of geographic location the city and the village must work together on many projects vital alike to the inhabitants of each municipality. These common problems will multiply and intensify in future years. They can best be solved in a spirit of harmony. Cooperation promises more than divisiveness.

The Customer Is Always

In view of all the current argument pro and con about legislation against mis-merchandising, including such gimmicks as "cents-off" sales, this sign posted by a St. Louis wholesale house seems particularly pertinent.

"One price for goods will be strictly adhered to. And to those in the habit of cheapening when purchasing, the following is respectfully suggested. Before a dealer can fall in his price he must have raised it; before he can take it off he must have put it on."

The notice was originally quoted in Ward's Natural Science bulletin—in 1884.

Dear Ann:

Ann Denounces Experimentation-Big Mouth

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Our 20-year-old son came home from boot camp last week. He looked very depressed at the breakfast table this morning and I asked what was bothering him. He replied, "I am so disappointed in Lorna. I always thought she had such high morals, but I found out differently last night."

I put the question bluntly: "Did you have improper relations with her?" He answered, "Yes. And I was very surprised to find that she had round heels like all the rest."

I asked if he was in the habit of doing such things and he said, "How else can a fellow tell if a girl is decent?"

He insists he will continue to test girls this way because he wants to make certain that the girl he marries is a virgin. He said, "If she turns me down I will be sure that she is a liar. I saw myself yesterday and I'm hoping that hundreds (maybe thousands) of mothers who are smothering their children as my mother smothered me, will see themselves and take heed."

"Voice Of Experience" wrote that her mother always made a point to re-shine the glasses after she had wiped them. She re-did the kitchen sink and re-tied her hair bow and shoe laces. She re-made the bed dusted over her dusting and made her feel that she couldn't do anything right.

Don't misunderstand, please. My mother was a good woman and she didn't have the faintest notion of what she was doing to me. But she destroyed my self-confidence so completely that it took four years of psychiatric help to make me a functioning human being. — ANOTHER VOICE

Dear Ann Landers: What can I do about a husband who clams up and refuses to speak a single word when something displeases him?

Last night the TV broke during his favorite show. He got mad and kicked the dog. Then he sat in the corner and wouldn't say a word. He suddenly decided he wanted salami sandwiches instead of cheese for his lunch box so he wrote me a note and asked our son to hand it to me.

How do I deal with such behavior? — L. S. W.

Press Card Earns Reporter Bed In Vietnamese An Khe Hilton

By BOB GASSAWAY

AN KHE, South Viet Nam (AP) — The bed was a lumpy air mattress tossed on top of an Army cot. There were 15,000 soldiers within shouting distance. But it was the bed Ann-Margret slept on!

Ann-Margret, the red-haired night club song and dance star! The bedroom was a roundish tent in the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airborne, division's crude encampment near the little Vietnamese town of An Khe. The battle-hardened troopers had named the tent the "An Khe Hilton." It was a far-cry from any other Hilton. For air conditioning, they raised the tent flaps. Instead of a sofa there was a folding chair.

In the place of a down comforter, there were two scratchy blankets and one sheet. But Ann-Margret slept here! That thought chased through her mind as she tossed and turned. My press card had earned me a night in the An Khe Hilton and there was a little booklet and hand lettering asking all guests to sign in.

There were colonels, captains, preachers, other newsmen, but up at the top — where it says print your name — on the first sheet was the bold script spelling out the name? "Ann-Margret."

Beside that, in the spot marked rank was printed "FEMALE." The date was March 15.

Ann-Margret had been in Viet Nam to entertain the troops. Then that thought hit. At first it was maybe, but after a few seconds — even though there were two other cots in the tent, both of them now filled with snoring men — I knew this had to be the one Ann-Margret slept on.

It didn't matter that it had been 49 nights earlier. I'm sleeping in Ann-Margret's bed. That was the last thought I had before the cot melted into a thick, fluffy mattress fit for a star.

The next morning — just to be sure — I stopped the nearest uniformed body.

"Ann-Margret never slept here," he said with a puzzled look on his face. "What are you talking about?"

"Well, her name's on the guest list in the An Khe Hilton over there."

"Aw, she didn't stay here. She just used that for a dressing room when she was here to do a show, and then she flew on out."

Aussies Aim to Please; Vietnicks Greet Humphrey

By WASHINGTON STAFF

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Near the end of his recent trip to the Far East, Vice President Hubert Humphrey stopped in Australia for a brief visit with Prime Minister Harold Holt.

Arriving at the conference, Humphrey found a small group of Aussie Vietnicks picketing the building with the customary "Get Out of Viet Nam" placards.

To Humphrey—who as presiding officer of the Senate often listens to verbal "picketing" by such dove senators as William Fulbright and Wayne Morse—this was old stuff, but he could not resist joshing Holt about it.

"Last night when I arrived," he told the prime minister, "you gave me a lovely sunset — just like those we have in Texas. This morning you gave me a wonderful crisis in Minnesota."

Arriving at the conference, Humphrey found a small group of Aussie Vietnicks picketing the building with the customary "Get Out of Viet Nam" placards.

"Little did I know to what lengths Prime Minister Holt had really gone. I found out that the leader of the pickets was a Brooklyn girl — a graduate of the University of California who was in Australia on a Fulbright scholarship!"

In the recently concluded Alabama Democratic primary, Gov. George Wallace, campaigning for his wife Lurleen, earlier taking potshots at northerners who criticize the South.

He referred often to his visit to various colleges and universities, noting that his controversial presence often demanded huge police forces to protect him from harm.

"When I went to Harvard University," he said, "it took 500 policemen to get me into the building. I had to leave by an underground route."

"I know every steam pipe in Harvard."

Wallace, throughout the primary campaign, kept a sharp eye out for Wallace bumper stickers wherever he went. Riding in his car, he would point out every one he saw, even in journeys of 40 miles or more.

What perhaps made him happiest was hearing that an ailing supporter in a hospital had had someone plaster a Wallace sticker on his oxygen tent.

The governor visited the man and probably was told that the sticker did more to restore him to health than the oxygen.

Harland Cleveland, U.S. ambassador to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, found out the hard way that reporters in foreign countries don't always operate the same way as their American colleagues.

After delivering a speech to a Paris press association, Cleveland asked a French newsmen what he planned to write.

"I could," came the answer, "write that you threw down the gauntlet to the Soviet Union. I could also write that you held out the olive branch to the Soviet Union. Either would make a story."

"But since you did both, I don't think there's a story here at all."

Bridge is not played in a vacuum. You have a partner and you have opponents and if you want to succeed as a player you should believe your partner first and also pay attention to what your opponents have done.

When South looked over dummy's first thought was that North had bid a trifle too much when he jumped to four spades but the contract was a reasonable one. South knew he would have to lose two heart tricks but if he could get away with the loss of only one spade, everything would be fine.

Playing in a vacuum, South would simply have taken a spade finesse and gone down when the finesse lost but South wasn't playing in a vacuum.

He followed to two hearts and ruffed the third. He noted that East followed to the third heart, therefore West could not have started with more than five hearts.

South counted 27 high card points between his hand and dummy. That left 13 points for East and West. Eight of them were represented by the ace-king-jack of hearts and the other five by the king and jack of spades and the jack of diamonds.

West had opened the bidding with one heart. He surely needed the king of spades for his opening bid, in which case the spade finesse would not work.

This left another play for the contract and South tried it. Instead of finessing the spade, South simply led out the ace and a small one. West had to win with the king and South was able to pick up the rest of the tricks.

FINDING THE WAY

Man's Hunger for Faith

By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

I've just come from chatting with a friend who has seen UFO (Unidentified Flying Objects). For him, they're identifiable. It may be true that the Air Force is not telling all that it knows about this much-reported phenomenon. It may be that there are strange craft hovering over our country. It may be that there are regular visitors from outer space. My friend has no doubt about it.

He asserts that men have ridden in these strange objects. He tells of conversations between earth men and space men. He knows the kind and quality of food that's eaten on other planets. He's certain that some of these objects are cleansing the polluted air of our own planet.

When I'm with this friend, I'm almost convinced. Away from him, I'm uncertain. He's confident. He believes that we are being visited daily by men from distant planets and there are thousands to join him in his faith.

The interesting thing about all of this is that it should come at a time there is great disbelief. The word "God" is suspect. Heaven and hell are doubted. Some want to limit religious belief to that which you can feel and touch. All across the land there are those who insist that God is dead. Faith becomes a hope instead of a possession.

There is a loneliness and a poignancy that wishes faith were possible. So—goodbye God—hello Unidentified Flying Objects.

It's as though men had become insistent on a kind of rationalism about their faith and a credulousness about this new development. Men have a hunger for faith; take truth from them and they supply substitutes.

It may be that strange craft are visiting our planet. It's not impossible even though it has not been proven. But my friend accepts all of this on a wild premise of faith and at the same moment denies the possibility of a living presence of God. The confessions of faith of the centuries spoke of an identifiable experience. God spoke. God acted. God dealt with the human family. God was breaking into history, redeeming it, leading it to new possibilities of peace. More than this, men believed that this same spirit which convinced these leaders of old, convinced them in this contemporary situation.

Today men of science are exhibiting enormous faith venturing into new areas, transplanting human organs, offering new hope in understanding our universe. It is a time that also requires ventures of faith in human relations.

I'm not sure of these reported craft. I am sure of the visitors from on high who shared a message of hope to men of good will. Is it really too much to believe that there is a God of righteousness and love who yearns to reconcile mankind? That's an identifiable objective!

A Form of Bondage

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: I am 28. I am having an affair with a man who is separated from his wife. I wouldn't have called it this a year ago but I do now as he gets angry if I mention the divorce he promised to get. He wants me to spend my coming vacation with him as man and wife as I did last summer. When I try to tell him I was frightened of someone recognizing us the whole time he says this wouldn't matter if I loved him. I do love him but...

ANSWER: But you want more advantage from your love. That's it, isn't it?

But there are thousands of people who can't allow us any advantage from loving them. They just want an endless supply of our love dished out to them as invalids want hot soup.

This isn't just true of neurotic men. It's true of those neurotic mothers, too, who demand endless supplies of love in return for giving us birth. If we are involved with a neurotic man like yours, it's helpful to realize how closely he resembles the undeveloped mother. He regards the love-making he gives us exactly as she regards her giving of birth—the act that entitles them both to such appreciation that we must remain fixed in his appreciation and never want anything else.

It's a helpful realization because it destroys his "romantic love" glamour. You just can't see yourself as the heroine of a romance once you see its hero's likeness to irrational mothers.

Tell such a mother, "I've fallen in love and want to get married." And she has a tantrum at the idea we could want to love someone else. So does he. He goes wild at the mention of divorce that would open our way to marriage, a home and babies.

Girls like you don't see the similarity of growth-denying mothers to growth-denying mothers because your "romantic love" notion says to you, "Sexual relationship is different from all other human relationships. It's special." Well, it isn't. It's no more glorious to remain forever content with love-making than it would be to remain forever content with mommy. If we are not content with mommy, we are not allowed to grow in any human relationship, we begin to hate it as bondage.

SETTING THE RECORD STRAIGHT!

Who is this guy, the farmer, then? What does he mean to the country? A House committee on agriculture compiled an impressive list of facts a couple of years ago that should raise a few eyebrows and help educate the public as to what modern farming is all about.

Agriculture's assets are about two-thirds the value of all corporations in the nation. Farming employs more workers than the combined jobs in transportation, public utilities, the steel industry and the automobile industry. The productivity of the U. S. farm worker since 1950 has increased about twice as fast as output per man-hour in non-agricultural industry.

Modern farming makes farmers good customers. They spend about $29 billion a year for goods and services used in producing farm products — $3.1 billion for new tractors and other machinery, $3.3 billion for petroleum products, and $1.6 billion for fertilizer. U.S. farmers use about 320 million pounds of rubber and 30 billion kilowatt-hours of electricity. In addition, farmers spend about $15 billion a year for the same things city people buy — food, clothing, drugs, appliances, etc. (from an editorial in Drovers Journal)

CORN PRICES DECLINE

Prices for the 1965 corn crop have averaged about 4 cents a bushel lower than prices for the previous crop. Prices seem likely to continue below year-before levels during the remainder of this marketing year.

The total supply of corn on hand is about the same as a year ago, but a much smaller share of it is locked up under price-support programs.

Stocks on Hand About the Same. Stocks of corn on hand April 1 totaled 2,899 million bushels, according to findings reported by the USDA. This amount was 1 percent more than a year earlier.

Corn in farm cribs and bins totaled 2,160 million bushels, up 11 percent from 1965. The farm stocks made up 75 percent of the total supply this year compared with only 67 percent a year before. Farmers' larger holdings this year suggest that they are more optimistic or bullish.

Government Stocks Shrink. The CCC has sold most of its once-large surplus stocks of corn. The government agency held only 176 million bushels of non-committed (unsold) corn on April 1, 72 percent less than 12 months before. This figure, however, does not include old and new corn that is under price-support loans.

The amount of old corn remaining under price-support loans (resale program) totaled 353 million bushels on April 1, 20 percent less than a year earlier. New corn under loan totaled 188 million bushels, 3 percent less.

More "Free" Corn. The corn owned by the government plus that under price-support loans totaled 716 million bushels, 43 percent less than last year. The supply of other corn (sometimes called "free" corn because it is not under any government program) totaled 2,183 million bushels, or 37 percent more than on April 1 last year.

Demand for Corn Increases. The total disappearance of corn during the first half of the marketing year was 2,442 million bushels. This amount was 9 percent more than was used and exported in the like time a year before.

Of the total disappearance of corn in the six-month period, 81 percent was used for feed, 15 percent was exported, and 4 percent was used by processors.

As compared with a year before, the amount of corn used for feed increased 5 percent, exports jumped 39 percent, while the use by processors was unchanged.

Surplus Stocks Reduced. It now appears that the carryover of old corn on October 1 may be around 1,100 million bushels. This amount would be 6 percent less than last fall, and 45 percent less than the high tide of surplus corn five years ago. The expected carryover is equal to about 95 days use and exports. The carryover in 1961 was equal to about 200 days use and exports.

The 1966 Crop May Break Records. Farmers have indicated that they will plant more than 68 million acres of corn, 2 percent more than they planted a year ago. With average weather this acreage should produce about 4,400 million bushels of corn, 5 percent more than last year's record.

The price-support loan rate for 1966 crop corn will average $1.00 a bushel, 5 cents lower than for the 1965 crop.

Heavier Grain Exports Affect Transportation

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Increased shipments of Illinois crops to other states and foreign countries have been a major factor in the shortage of grain transportation facilities, a two-year study showed today.

Prof. Walter J. Willis, of Southern Illinois University school of agriculture, made a report on his study at a meeting of representatives of the railroad industry, grain elevator operators, and the federal and state agriculture departments.

Willis said Illinois now is producing 80 percent more corn, 60 percent more wheat and 70 percent more soybeans for shipment outside the state than it did 20 years ago.

Shortages of box cars and differences in railroad shipping rates are two of the main problems affecting transportation, he said.

Robert M. Schneider, state agriculture director, said Illinois will be in trouble again this year because of its "tremendous production" of crops. He said the transportation problem applies to other states as well as to Illinois.

Powdery Mildew Nips At County's Wheat

Farm Adviser George Trull was called Thursday and Friday to inspect wheat fields in all sections of the county by farmers who noticed that their wheat fields — which had been so promising since planting last fall — weren't looking just right.

The leaves and even the stems, were mottled by what appeared to be a fungus disease.

Trull diagnosed it as powdery mildew, something that is with us every year. But the disease flourishes during periods of low temperatures and excessive moisture.

Dr. M. C. Shurtleff, U. I. plant pathologist, said every county in the state was reporting the flare-up of the disease. There is no practical treatment, he said. Spraying with specified chemicals would knock out the disease for this one year, but it would be too arduous and expensive to justify the results.

He put the maximum damage at 10% of the yield.

Shurtleff told Trull that hard winter wheat varieties are much more susceptible to the disease than soft wheats.

"This raises the old question in this area," Trull said. "Soft winter wheats have a history of doing better around here than hard varieties. They yield better, year after year. Yet the marketing situation is so arranged that the man who raises soft wheat is often penalized. Maybe if powdery mildew would hit us hard for a few years we'd straighten out the market that now caters to hard wheats and to our disadvantage."

"It's just something to speculate about," Trull said. "As of now we have the disease among us, there is nothing practical we can do about it, but we can think about the obvious advantages of turning to soft winter wheat varieties."

Indian Corn Yields 100 Years Ago!

Dr. Werner Nelson, Indiana agronomist and currently regional director of the American Postash Institute, writes in the last issue of the association's newsletter that some American farmers were turning out some whopping crops of corn as far back as 1866.

He quotes from the book, "Indian Corn," written by Edward Enfield and published in 1867 by D. Appleton & Co., New York.

Enfield reported the best yields he had heard of during the previous year:

Illinois, Madison Co.	170 Bu/A
Kentucky, Bourbon Co.	160
New Jersey, Almost	200
Ohio	165
Iowa, Marion Co.	178
Iowa, Marion Co. (half acre)	95
South Carolina	over 200

Enfield noted that the Kentucky field was planted in "rows two feet asunder and stalks 12 inches apart in row" and that the Ohio field had "three quarter pound ears."

It is not known whether the U.S. Commissioner of Agriculture knew about that big crop of corn in Madison county when he estimated Illinois corn production in 1866.

He found that the farmers in the state planted 4,925,000 acres of corn. It averaged 29.0 bushels per acre and sold for an average of 42c per bushel, yielding a gross income of $12.18 per acre.

Soybean Growers To Be Guests At June Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Meggison of near Woodson will be the guests Tuesday, June 14, at the annual dinner meeting of the Illinois Crop Improvement association to be held at the Lincoln hotel in Urbana.

Last year Meggison ranked No. 3 in the state 5-acre soybean contest sponsored by ICIA. His yield was 58 bushels.

The head man at the meeting will be John Reiser of Ashland, the international soybean champion who produced 73 bushels to the acre.

Farmers who wish to enter the contest may do so until July 15, says Farm Adviser George Trull. He has a $2 fee. The measuring of the field and the harvesting of the tract will be under the supervision of the Agricultural Extension Advisory Council of the county.

LAW on the farm

AIR POLLUTION INJURES CROPS

With the encroachment of cities and industrial firms into farming areas, some farmers are reporting crop damage from air pollutants. Farming operations still require an adequate supply of clean air and sunshine, and neighboring commercial, industrial or power plants that give off smoke and fumes can make raising crops and livestock difficult, as well as make living uncomfortable.

If you or your farm is seriously bothered with fumes, odors, dust, gas, smoke or other air pollution caused by a nearby plant, you may be able to obtain relief with the help of a state agency. An Illinois law passed in 1963 provides for an Air Pollution Control Board with power to take legal action against those guilty of contaminating the air to an extent that injures human, plant or animal life or property or that unreasonably interferes with the enjoyment of life or property.

Complaints may be directed to the Board's Technical Secretary, who is the Chief Sanitary Engineer of the Department of Public Health in Springfield. Upon receiving complaints, the Secretary may call for an investigation. If there is a violation of the Air Pollution Control Act, he will first seek to persuade the guilty party to change his operations and, if necessary, install filtering devices. If this action fails to get results, hearings may be held and the guilty party ordered to stop the pollution. If it becomes necessary for the Board to go to court to obtain a restraining order, a penalty of up to $200 per day for continued violations may be imposed.

This procedure provides a way of stopping or reducing the pollution. It does not compensate the landowner for any injury he may have suffered. If damages are of a sufficient amount, the injured landowner may still wish to take direct legal action against the polluting party. However, he must be able to prove that he has been injured by the business in question.

Advice for high school graduates:

When you receive your high school diploma, ask yourself where you want to be ten years from now.

Then ask if you can get there with only a high school education.

Continue your education beyond high school if you possibly can.

There are many types of jobs today which did not exist a few years ago, and in years to come there will be more changes coming. Whatever you want to do learn all you can about it. Learn from others, many others. This is what you do in school. There are many types of schools and you can learn more in one of them.

It seems a shame sometimes when young people with ability don't help this ability grow and flower into happiness.

Many times all that can be seen after graduation is to get that job and earn that money.

Help is needed to see ahead when there will be a family and expenses will be greater and there will be a need for greater income.

Think on these things and remember the old song title, "It's what you do with what you've got." That is the important thing.

Now you should . . .
 . . . Not work fields too wet.
 . . . Hope the herbicide you applied does the job.
 . . . Watch the grass grow.
 . . . Go on a picnic.
 . . . Eat green onions, lettuce and radishes from the garden.

Can you prove you were born? Sooner or later we all need to do this for social security, life insurance, etc.

If possible obtain a birth certificate from where you were born. If not available you may be able to prove your age from old school records, military records, baptismal records, family Bible records, etc.

Keep these certificates in a safe place. If difficult to obtain copies keep them in a safe deposit box.

From the Biggie Swine Book of 1966

A good pig may be any color. Do not kill good breeding stock too early.

Keep a record of performance on each sow.

Breed any month in the year it suits your market.

Fatten the rattle-headed sow that lays on her pigs. Try another.

Irish Dairy Specialist To Visit Here

A young dairy consultant from Annagh, Maguiresbridge, County Fermanagh, Northern Ireland, probably will be discussing the heat and humidity of Morgan county next July.

Miss Doris Fleming, 22, will be here as the guest of the E. Y. Johnson family living at the northeast corner of the county. She will be there June 26-July 10.

She is one of Great Britain's selections to IFYE, International Farm Youth Exchange.

Miss Fleming is a graduate of Loughry Agricultural College, where she specialized in dairy farming and the manufacture of milk products. At present she is a "farm advisory officer in dairying, Ministry of Agriculture."

She was reared on a dairy farm, 150 acres, 50 acres tillable.

Currently Ireland is listed as the No. 2 dairy country, just below Finland and ahead of New Zealand. The United States rates No. 5 in the international scale of milk production and consumption.

Her father produces milk, beef, poultry and seed potatoes. Miss Fleming arrived in the United States Thursday and will visit farms in Kentucky, Illinois and South Dakota before returning to her home in November.

Her stay in Morgan county will be as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. Y. Johnson and family. The Johnson children, Ruth Ann and Tom, have 4-H projects in dairying and beef production, using the Milking Shorthorn breed which is one of the favorites in Miss Fleming's home land.

'Farm' Big Attraction At Lincoln Park Zoo

Five acres of rural Illinois complete with barns and livestock nestle among the high-rise apartments and busy streets of Chicago in the Lincoln Park Zoo. This "Farm-In-The-Zoo" is designed to show farm animals to Chicagoans and to teach them something about the production and marketing of agricultural commodities in Illinois.

The Lincoln Park Zoological society and Zoo Director Dr. Lester Frisher see the new facility as offering an excellent opportunity for agriculture to tell its story to the 4,000,000 city dwellers who annually visit the zoo.

Chicago adults and children, who are usually more familiar with elephants, lions and tigers than they are with cows, sheep and horses, can now see live farm animals and view educational exhibits on Illinois agriculture.

The five acres of Farm-In-The-Zoo, which border a lagoon on the south end of the Lincoln Park Zoo, are open the year round. The dairy barn and the main barn with its exhibition area have been open since December 1964.

A horse barn houses a mule, a draft horse, saddle horses and a pony. Four major breeds of beef cattle are shown in the cattle barn. A poultry building and a combined sheep and swine barn are planned for construction. Sheep, swine and poultry are now shown in the main barn.

The main barn is also the farm exhibit and demonstration center. One display produced by the Extension Service asked Zoo visitors to test their knowledge of Illinois agriculture. Ten color panels with photos had such questions as "How many pounds of meat did Chicagoans eat today?" (answer: 2 1/2 million), "What percent of Illinois land is used for farming?" (answer: 85%), and "Out of every 100 workers in the state, how many are engaged in farming or related industries?" (answer: 33).

ELEPHANT NEVER FORGETS TO EAT

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Knoxville's City Council is pondering the problem of a portly pachyderm who is peerless in his ability to pack away provisions.

In short, Diamond literally is eating himself out of house and home at the zoo.

The council indicated that the elephant's daily diet of five bales of hay, five gallons of oats, a stalk of bananas, 14 loaves of bread and a few crates of lettuce is too much for the city to provide.

They agreed to give Diamond away if necessary.

One problem remains: Who wants him?

NARROW ESCAPE

By John Rankin

Billy opened his eyes in the gray light of dawn and listened to the birds singing their joyful, carefree songs of summer in the lilacs down near the garden, and in the tulip trees back of the house. Yawning sleepily, he came upright in bed and felt the soft refreshing breeze from the open window on his face. Then he swung around and let his feet dangle over the side.

Other sounds proclaiming the approach of day came from the barn about then. Horses neighed softly and hungry pigs squealed and rustled about restlessly.

A rooster's clarion-like signal rang out loud and clear above the din of some bawling calves down by the cowshed. And even Tiger, the family cat, got into the act with a few ear-splitting yowls of his own somewhere back of the house.

Where's Laddie?
Billy wondered about his dog, Laddie. He ran to the window to look out and felt a little uneasy when he didn't see him anywhere. Then he remembered that on Uncle Adrian's advice he had put the big collie in the barn last night and locked the door with a padlock. Feeling better then, he turned back to the bed and crawled in and tried to go back to sleep.

But some pretty disturbing things haunted the boy and he found sleep hard to come by. He'd heard many sordid stories of late about some dog thieves believed to be active in the area. And the thought of Laddie falling into their evil hands gave him an uneasy feeling that somehow just wouldn't go away.

Billy knew about such things as laboratories that always seemed to be away off in some mysterious place. And he knew that stolen dogs sometimes ended up there. He knew such experiments were needed to find new ways to aid people, but homeless dogs could do that—not his Laddie. Also, the thieves were often cruel and many animals did not live to get to the laboratories so did not even giving their lives to help some human being.

The very thought of such a thing sent a shudder up Billy's spine, and with a grim determination akin to anger he vowed that Laddie would never suffer such a cruel fate. Then he heard Aunt Hattie hustling around down in the kitchen and he jumped out of bed and dressed hurriedly and went downstairs.

Aunt Hattie turned from a pan of sizzling bacon on the stove to face Billy as he came in. But the bright smile she usually wore was missing and a look of deep concern showed in her eyes.

"Laddie has been stolen!" she said in a voice that tried to sound warm and cheerful, but came out icy-cold and had a hollow ring to it.

Red-Heads Lose To Pileated

By Emma Mae Leonhard

Bird watchers usually have one quality in common: they enjoy sharing their experiences and discoveries with one another. We appreciate these courtesies. This information also helps us to keep the records of birds in certain communities and to become aware of changing conditions in our bird population.

We appreciated receiving word from Lee Baptist about a Pileated Woodpecker's nest not too many miles west of Jacksonville. Would we like to see it? Of course we were all excited. We rarely see a Pileated Woodpecker, let alone its nesting place. We immediately snapped up Mr. Baptist's invitation.

And so at seven o'clock on May Day morning eight of us met Mr. Baptist, who guided us to the spot. We hiked along an open ridge until we came to the rushing Mauvalster Creek. Buffeted by the cold wind, we stood on the top of the high embankment and gazed across the creek at a tall dead tree, gaunt, without bark, and with only a few stubs of dead limbs topping it.

Large Oval Hole
High in this smooth gray trunk was a very large oval hole. The edge of it was smooth and burnished from constant use. This was the Pileated Woodpecker's home. Mr. Baptist encouraged us by saying that he had never waited longer than an hour until one of these handsome crown-striped woodpeckers with a conspicuous red crest came out of the hole.

We buttoned our coats more securely; some stood behind tree trunks to protect themselves from the winter-tinged wind. And we waited. Over an hour passed. No bird appeared. Perhaps it was wiser than we; it was warm.

At last Mr. Baptist left us. One member of the party had to return for early church. The others wandered over the hills and along the creek—all but one, who decided to station herself before the nest and out-watch the bird.

Warning "Querr"
It wasn't long until four Red-headed Woodpeckers, sounding their "querr" warning, appeared from four directions. With war strategy they moved in closer to the Pileated Woodpecker's fort.

Soon they assembled in the dead limbs above the hole. One Red-head, either braver than the others or doomed by the casting of lots, flew down and perched on the edge of the entrance to the nest.

We don't know what this lone scout heard from the depth of the hole; it probably was plenty and not very nice. At any rate it silently retreated, and the three other Red-heads followed.

Out of the hole appeared the handsome red-crested head of the Pileated Woodpecker. The bird examined the empty territory. Soon it flew out into a neighboring dead tree and studied the whole battleground. Then, master of its home, it returned to either its eggs or its babies.

(matter of) fact

The peanut, which is grown in South America, India, China, French West Africa and the United States, is used mainly for its edible oil everywhere except in the United States where it is produced mainly for grinding into peanut butter. Half of the harvested crop is used for this purpose. Only 10 per cent of the crop is crushed for oil. In the southern part of the United States the peanut is used extensively as feed for livestock.

Company coming? To give that tossed green salad epicurean flavor, cook a package of frozen artichoke hearts according to package directions, then chill. Toss the artichoke hearts along with the greens and French dressing — at serving time, of course.

Old Russian Monastery Now Museum Of Atheism

By FRED COLEMAN
KIEV, U.S.S.R. (AP) — The 900-year-old Pechersk monastery, second holiest spot in Mother Russia, is now a museum of atheism.

A tour through the catacombs and golden-domed churches of the vast monastery, built on rolling green hills overlooking Kiev, is a graphic lesson in how to turn a religious center to atheistic propaganda.

Talks with Kiev people, however, indicate many still believe what the Soviets officially dismiss as religious myths.

The refectory, where the monks used to eat, shows pictures of Soviet cosmonauts. A sign says, "Religion is the enemy of science."

A display under the sign tells the story of the Italian astro-nomer Galileo who was censured by the Church in the 17th century for maintaining that the earth revolves around the sun.

Another museum hall carries the sign, "Religion is the opiate of the masses—K. Marx."

The monastery, built in 1051 when Kiev was the capital of Russia, has a long history of suffering.

It was hit by an earthquake in the 12th century, a Tartar invasion in the 13th, a fire in the 17th. Nazi destruction during World War II. It has been closed twice by Soviet authorities.

Still, the tour guide notes with pride that, of 2,500 monasteries in 17th century Russia, this was one of only four given the title of Lavra, a word meaning large and populous.

It is considered the second holiest monastery in Russia after Zalorsk, near Moscow, now the headquarters of the Russian Orthodox Church.

The guide says Soviet authorities closed the monastery in 1929 because of the immorality of the monks. One monk, she says, murdered one of his mistresses in the monastery.

During World War II, the guide says, the Germans pil-laged the monastery and destroyed 36 of its 87 buildings.

However, they allowed priests to use part of the monastery, a practice that continued after the war under Soviet rule.

The guide explains what she calls a legend about monks so holy that they sealed themselves up in little cubicles, leaving only a tiny window where bread and water was placed for them. They intended to pray continuously until they died.
When the bread and water was no longer taken in, the monks were presumed dead and the little windows sealed up.

The guide calls this a falsification.

But outside the monastery a taxi driver asked his foreign passengers:

"Did you see all the places where the monks sealed themselves up?"

Lincoln's Grave In Oak Ridge

One of the most widely copied newspaper articles in the history of American journalism was making the rounds a hundred years ago.

It was a long story, running more than two columns of six point unlined type, but just the same nearly every newspaper in the country picked it up and printed it.

It was a description of Oak Ridge cemetery, Springfield, and Lincoln's tomb.

It all started when the Welsh Eisteddfod, a singing society in Mahanoy City, Pa., instructed its secretary to find out just where Lincoln was buried, and how the society could help in building a suitable monument for the late President.

The secretary directed a letter to the postmaster at Springfield and the latter turned the inquiry over to "R" — Springfield correspondent for the Chicago Evening Journal. "R" obliged with all the details and his article was printed in the Mahanoy paper, and copied by everybody.

Much of the article dealt with plans for financing the monument and those portions are omitted. Here's the rest of the most copied story:

The remains of the lamented martyr are deposited in "Oak Ridge Cemetery," which is situated two miles north of the city of Springfield, his old home, the capital of the State, and in the county of Sangamon, almost the Geographical centre of Illinois.

"Oak Ridge" was first set apart as a burial ground about ten years ago. The inclosure contains a fraction over seventy-two (72) acres, and is sufficiently remote from the business centre of the city and every-day life to render it a retired and fitting abode for the dead. The site is indeed a most eligible one. Its topography is varied, and presents a beautiful blending of hill and dale, interspersed with a natural growth of trees and shrubs of various species, among which the oak predominates.

The cemetery is enclosed by a substantial wooden fence, which is designed to give way at no distant period to a living hedge, with which it is already completely enclosed on three sides, and which, when full developed, will not only make a most substantial and durable fence, but add greatly to the charm of the cemetery.

A Beautiful Place

It is entered from the east side by a wide gate opening into a broad graveled avenue, which branches off into a network of others, affording access to all parts of the grounds. It also abounds with winding and curving footpaths, which at their various activities from the deep ravines, along which most of the carriage routes are located, and are ascended by stairways composed of beautifully chiselled marble. These walks are all kept scrupulously clean, and their borders are ornamented with beds of flowers, sweet scented shrubs, evergreens, etc.

About one thousand bodies have already been committed to its guardianship, amongst whom are some of our most worthy and respected citizens, though it contains ashes of but few soldiers of renown, and not more than about twenty-five of all grades. Dr. Todd, uncle of Mrs. Lincoln, occupies a conspicuous mound in the centre of the grounds. Many chaste and costly monumental shafts and head-stones of white marble are interspersed over the inclosure, adding much to the natural beauty of the place.

A portion of the grounds were originally set apart for the burial of the poor, another portion for strangers, and a third for colored persons, and on the 21st of February, 1862, a plot was appropriated to the burial of the citizens of Illinois who might fall in their country's defense. But as most of the deaths of this class of citizens occurred at Camp Butler, some six miles east of Springfield, where there is a large military cemetery — this plot is but little used, and as we specified above, the public ground is but little cultivated.

"A Becoming Monument"

The object of the National Lincoln Monument Association, as indicated by its name, is to build a becoming monument to the memory of Mr. Lincoln. To this end the association have obtained from the city of Springfield a deed of about six acres of the most beautiful ground, situated near the southeastern extremity of the cemetery, and close to the main entrance, where the remains of Mr. Lincoln are now entombed, together with those of his little sons, Eddie and Willie, who died, the former before his elevation to the Presidency, and the latter in the early part of his administration, in a new vault erected by the association, as their resting place until the contemplated monument shall be erected, when they will finally be deposited with the members of his family, in their final resting place.

This vault crowns the summit of a little hill, is partly excavated, but chiefly above the surface, and facing to the northeast. The front, which is about ten feet high, is built of brick and white stone copings, with a vase at each angle. The door is inclosed with a white marble slab fitted in the grooves, and surmounted with a white circular stone, polished, bearing the simple inscription — "Lincoln" — carved thereon. The back of the tomb is covered with a mound of earth, which, in the spring, will be clad with grass. The vases and the smoothed stones of the tomb are already written over in pencil with the autographs of pilgrims.

At the northern base of the eminence flows a winding stream of pure spring water, which ripples along its pebbly bed, ringing a requiem to the dead who sleep within its hallowed precincts.

"Indeed A 'Mecca'"

Since the burial of Mr. Lincoln within the precincts of Oak Ridge, it has become indeed a "Mecca," whither pilgrims repair to renew their fidelity to country, to humanity and to God. Already the visitor's book, at the Curator's house, contains the names of 24,000 devotees from all parts of the world, and each name is accompanied by some remark expressive of the most tender affection, while the sexton is confident that the number does not represent a tithe of those who have been drawn thither out of respect for the memory of the deceased.

Almost everybody who was, or is, anybody has visited Lincoln's tomb. Herbert W. Fay, for years the curator, secured one of the greatest collections of autographs in the world simply by asking distinguished people to sign his personal register after he showed them through the tomb.

Nobody can possibly estimate with any degree of accuracy the number of people who visit the tomb annually. At this time of the year sometimes as many as 200 busloads of school children arrive in one day. To take care of this gigantic load the curator has enlisted the help of an automatic tape recording system. Some people don't like it, claiming it is entirely out of place and irreverent.

But, may I ask, what else can the people in charge do? I'm sure they would welcome suggestions.

News, Views Century Ago

From the Jacksonville Journal:

A DASTARDLY ACT — Several days ago some cowardly scoundrel, too little-souled to be worthy of the name of man, entered the Jacksonville cemetery and defaced the monument owned by J. T. Newman by battering off the raised letters, thus not only defacing but really destroying the value of the sacred memento. Our Trustees very promptly and properly offered a reward of fifty dollars for the detection and punishment of the guilty person or persons.

OSAGE ORANGE HEDGE PLANTS — It will be seen by our advertising columns to-day that Mr. Z. F. Zerk & Bro. of Concord, Ill., are in need of local and traveling agents in all the North-western states, to aid them in the disposal of their immense quantity of hedge plants. They are perhaps the most extensive hedge plant growers in the state and are preparing to even extend their nurseries.

From the Jacksonville Sentinel:

The Morgan County Wool Growers' association was organized in Jacksonville on Saturday, the 12th of May; Wm. Richardson, Esq., chairman, and John Gordon, secretary. A committee consisting of James Ranson, Holland Reed, Wm. Hammell, John Megginson and John Gordon was instructed to prepare a petition to the County Court to induce the Court to levy a tax on dogs.

Since the price of beef cattle has shown an upward tendency, the shipments from this county have been resumed. Jno. T. Alexander shipped from Alexander Station 375 head of cattle; Sims & Osborne shipped from Orleans 10 head of cattle. Shippers are offering for hogs $7.50 to $8; for cattle $6.50 to $7.25.

THE FOURTH OF JULY — The Odd Fellows of this city are making arrangements for a grand celebration of the approaching national anniversary. Most Worthy Grand Sire Veatch of St. Louis and Grand Secretary Ridgely of Baltimore will deliver addresses on the occasion.

On Monday, Mrs. James Bennett, while assisting her husband in burning stalks, caught fire to her clothing, enveloping her in flames, and before she could receive relief she was so badly injured that no hopes are entertained for her recovery.

The present week will close the summer terms of our various institutions of learning.

We notice that the DAILY JOURNAL has enlarged its borders by the addition of another column.

BASEBALL MATCH — The Hercules Base Ball club of this city has issued a challenge to the Hardin Club of Jacksonville, to play a match game. The challenge has been accepted by the latter club, and, Tuesday, May 29th, has been fixed upon as the time when it will come off, at the usual place for playing, just north of the T. W. & W. R. R. The Hercules Club is, we believe, composed of college students, while the Hardin Club was organized by the young business men of the city.

From the Carrollton Gazette: An election takes place in July in which was learned that the liquor influence confidently rely on carrying "License," but they had better learn wisdom by the example of Jerseyville, which has had whiskey for some time past, but this week voted down license two to one.

Mr. Adam Gimmy is fitting up a store room in his brick building on the east side of the square, which we are informed, is to be used as a clothing store, by a firm with whose names we are not familiar.

Some boys on Sunday last, obtained a hand car of the railroad, and when running at a high speed, came in contact with a hog on the track, which was run over and killed, and the enterprising (?) lads had $10 to pay for the same. Served them right.

HUMORS of the day

May, 1866

"Jeff, why am you like de gum-tree?"

"I gived it up, Sam. Why am I like de gum-tree?"

"Case you stays green winter and summer."

Adam Shoemaker, a number of years ago, came to Huntington Furnace, and seeing there for the first time a pair of snuffers, he said:

"What's them for?"

"To snuff the candle."

The candle just then needed attention, and Adam, with his thumb and finger, pinched off the snuff, and carefully poked it into snuffers, saying: "Well, now, them's handy."

Why are women extravagant in clothes? Because when they buy a new dress they wear it out the first day.

A certain individual, in the exuberance of his rage at some one who had offended him, said: "I'll have revenge. By Jove, I'll give his little boy a tin horn."

The largest amount of revenue paid by the British people in any one year was $370,000,000. The amount which the people of the United States will pay this year will be $540,000,000.

The German Diet at Frankfurt having, on April 14, passed the act for the mobilization of the Federal army, Prussia has declared the Confederation dissolved, and that she regards as enemies all the States voting for the act.

The same day that war was declared the Prussians commenced hostilities by invading Saxony from the north, east and west, occupying Dresden. The King of Saxony and the royal family fled. The people were lying in Bohemia. The Prussians were levying contributions of supplies and conscripting the able-bodied men.

The capital of Hanover has been captured by the Prussians.

The number of pardons issued by the President up to date: Political pardons, 12,381; criminal pardons, 163. The President has ordered that hereafter no pardon shall be issued to a second party, but must be given to the individual, or sent to the Governor of the State, with the view of breaking-up the pardon-broker nuisance.

Judge Underwood has refused to admit Jefferson Davis to bail, on the ground of non-jurisdiction, the defendant being held by the military power of the Government.

An experiment was made last week in this city, with Marshall's Fire Annihilator. This consists of a number of pipes leading into the building and attached to the ceiling. These pipes are perforated, so that on a steam fire-engine being attached to the street pipe, a very heavy shower of rain was thrown into the building. No fire could have withstood such a deluge. There were many spectators present, all of whom were satisfied with its great utility.

Cotton in Georgia has commenced to blossom. The recent rains have overwhelmed the crop in many places with grass.

The American and Union Telegraph Companies are about forming a union of interests, which will control and operate all the territory and connect all points of importance from Newfoundland to San Francisco and Vancouver Island.

The State Agricultural Society of Illinois has offered premiums to people who plant the greatest number of deciduous trees in artificial groves this spring, the same to be counted in the fall, and the premiums paid January 1st, 1867. This is a movement of peculiar value to the West, where the boundless prairies are without shade, and where the value and beauty of every homestead would be so much increased by trees.

The Boston public library contains 123,000 volumes. Its largest contributors are Joshua Bates, of London, who gave $100,000 worth of books, and Theodore Parker, who left 11,000 books and 3,000 pamphlets.

You Like Trees? Forestry Camp Begins July 31

Ralph Romig, assistant farm adviser, is fretting around these days looking for some boy who is interested in forestry and could attend the 15th annual Illinois Boys' Farm Forestry camp at Lake West Frankfort, Franklin county, July 31 - Aug. 6.

This camp, among the forests of southern Illinois, is devoted "to the wise use of forests and wood products." Financial support is provided by wood-using industries, conservation organizations and service clubs.

"Our trouble," Romig says, "is that our 4-H camp for older members comes at the same time. Our boys who might be interested in going to the West Frankfort camp would rather go to their own camp."

"But just the same the West Frankfort camp is a mighty fine place to have some fun and to learn something about the possibilities in the forest management and lumber business."

"I'd like to have some boy from Morgan county, he'd have to be 14 years old and not older than 18, call me at the County Extension office and tell me he'd like to go."

CROP Elects Bob Darley Chairman

Bob Darley, of the Durbin neighborhood, was elected chairman of the Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP) at the reorganizational meeting held Monday night at the office of Jacksonville Farm Production Credit.

He succeeds co-chairmen Paul McGrath of Murrayville and Rev. Glenn Garvin of Franklin.

Mrs. Norman Boatman of Chapin was named secretary and Paul Utterback of the First National bank was chosen treasurer.

The director of the fall financial campaign will be Keith Baumann of Jacksonville.

The organization, a non-denominational society that uses funds raised in campaigns to buy surplus foods for distribution in hungry lands under the direct auspices of church people, will put on its campaign earlier this year.

Since its formation the annual solicitation has been in November, during the week of Thanksgiving. At that time the solicitors asked for gifts of corn or soybeans, or cash which was used to buy surplus American foods.

According to present plans the organization will begin its solicitation Sept. 11. At that time farmer friends will be asked to sign pledges authorizing their grain elevator to turn over so much corn or soybeans to the organization. At the same time the non-farmer friends of CROP will be solicited for their annual cash donation.

Feels Farmers To Gain Much From Medicare

URBANA — Farm families and other rural residents could benefit from Medicare more than any other group, a University of Illinois rural sociologist points out.

D. E. Lindstrom, citing a recent U. S. Department of Agriculture report, explains that a larger percentage of rural residents are older than city residents, and fewer have private health insurance. All persons over 65 years of age who are getting social security or railroad retirement are automatically covered under the law.

For those not covered, the program will be financed from the federal treasury. Social security tax rates will increase slightly under the Medicare program. For self-employed farmers, the rates in 1967 will increase from 6.2 to 6.4 percent of taxable income. By 1967 and later, the change will be from 6.9 to 7.8 percent. For farm wage workers, the increase in 1967 will be from 4.125 to 4.2 percent. By 1967 and after, the rate will go from 4.625 to 5.65 percent. Benefits include hospital insurance to cover costs over $40 for 60 days of confinement. Also, a payment of $3 per month beginning July 1 this year will cover 80 percent of reasonable doctor and medical costs over $50 a year. Lindstrom also points out that aside from Medicare there will be higher retirement benefits, benefits for uninsured persons over 72 years of age and for disabled workers, and higher earned income exemptions. Also, widows of insured workers can get benefits at age 60 under certain conditions.

It's handy to combine a starchy food with a vegetable to serve with meat, fish or eggs for a main course. Potatoes or rice, for example, may be mixed with green peas.

Quincy Nips Crimsons 1-0 As Bush Fans 27

Jacksonville's Rich Coble and Quincy's Alan Bush weren't along for the ride Friday.

Between the two, they posted 40 strikeouts in a 13-inning marathon before Quincy scored a 1-0 regional championship victory in Quincy stadium.

Coble was credited with 13 strikeouts, while Bush whiffed 27 Crimsons batters.

In Quincy's half of the unlucky 13th for JHS, leadoff batter, centerfielder Elliott Brunner parked one against the wall

Pro Grid Contract War Looming Near

WASHINGTON (AP) — Commissioner Pete Rozelle and National Football League owners headed home to lock the stable door Friday in the face of reports that American Football League clubs were contacting NFL players.

One player who reportedly was approached, defensive tackle Alex Karras, signed for seven more seasons with the Detroit Lions, saying he had turned down "a very attractive offer" to play for the new Miami Dolphins of the AFL.

Karras said the Dolphins wanted him for the 1967 season, after playing out his option with the Lions.

The signing of Pete Gogolak by the New York Giants Tuesday after he played out his option with the Buffalo Bills of the rival AFL apparently touched off counter measures by the AFL.

Wellington Mara, president of the Giants said he had been told by center Greg Larson and half-back Steve Thurlow that they had been contacted by the San Diego Chargers. He also said he had heard that end Bob Crespino had been contacted by the Chargers and fullback Tucker Frederickson by Houston.

Talked About Players

However, Frederickson, a rookie star of 1965, said in Montgomery he had talked to Houston general manager Don Klossman but only about about players still at Auburn, his alma mater. He said nothing was mentioned about his playing with the Oilers.

After the NFL spring meetings ended Friday noon, Rozelle told newsmen:

"I have heard reports of contacts made by AFL club representatives with certain players now under contract with NFL teams. I will have further information on this when club presidents and I return home. If there are legal ramifications to such contacts, they would be explored by the NFL clubs involved."

Before the Karras signing with the Lions was announced, the Dolphins denied they had contacted any Detroit players as reported by Dave Diles of station WXYZ of Detroit. Diles mentioned Karras, linebacker Wayne Walker and receiver Gail Coghill.

"Agreed On Plan"

Diles said AFL owners had agreed on a plan to sign NFL in centerfield, and when the dust settled was on third.

Coble forced second sacker Dan Welte to fly out to Ed Wingler at third, but lost the game when Bruce Bybee rapped a liner down the first base line and Brunner romped home.

Bush in posting his 27 strikeouts, only allowed two Jacksonville singles.

Robin Manker touched Bush in the sixth, but died on first when Bush fanned Coble.

Mike Miller tagged one in the 12th, but Bush bore down and stuffed Manker. Coble and Stan Hayes in order.

Coble scattered five hits before the fateful 13th, in the second, fourth, eighth, tenth and twelfth.

Coble was in serious trouble only once when the Blue Devils loaded the bases in the tenth.

With two down, Coble gave up a base on balls to first baseman Ed Batteiger, absorbed a single off Bush's bat, and then gave Brunner a free pass before getting Dan Welte to ground out Hayes to Duane Hess.

Bush retired Jacksonville batters in order in eight innings, while Coble put Quincy down five times.

Railbirds at the contest touted that the 40 strikeouts must be some sort of a state record, but there was no official notice.

Jacksonville was a previous 4-3 and 8-0 loser to Quincy, and will play Griffin in a make-up conference game.

Howard Sparks Yanks' 2-1 Edge Over Minnesota

NEW YORK (AP) — Elston Howard singled in one run and scored the other in support of Al Downing's strong pitching as the New York Yankees edged Minnesota 2-1 Friday night.

The Yankees' victory stopped two five-game winning streaks — the Twins' and Camilo Pascual's.

Pascual gave up only four hits in six innings, but three came in the fifth inning when the Yankees scored their runs.

Clete Boyer led off with a double, the second hit off Pascual, and Howard followed with a single for the first run. After Downing sacrificed Howard to second, Roy White drove him in with a triple into the left-field corner.

Chuck Burr, Miami general manager, said, "There is absolutely nothing to this report" (that the Dolphins had contacted Detroit players).

Larson said in Minneapolis Sid Gillman, coach and general manager of the San Diego team, did not make any specific offer, but said "money is no object if I were interested in playing with San Diego next season."

Thurlow said in New York he had been contacted personally by Gillman by phone Tuesday night. "He asked me if I had signed my contract with the Giants, I said I had. He sounded disappointed, but he pursued it further. He asked me what I was making and he told me in roundabout terms what he could offer me."

In San Diego, Gillman said: "The San Diego Chargers stand on their record. We have never signed anybody in this country who was under contract or who played out his option. Can Mr. Mara say the same?"

WASHINGTON (AP) — Don Lock reached first base on an error in the bottom of the ninth inning and raced all the way home on another error, giving Washington a 6-5 victory over the California Angels Friday night.

With the score 5-5, Lock led off the last of the ninth and got on base on shortstop Jim Fregoso's bobble. Frank Howard then bunted and third baseman Paul Schaal made a wild throw to first, enabling Lock to come around with the winning run.

The Angels unloaded three bases-empty homers off Phil Ortega, all into the Washington bullpen. George Brunet, the Angels' starting pitcher, hit one in his only time at bat, Jose Cardenal and Schaal hit the others.

Turpin, who died Tuesday, left a farewell note to his wife. A revolver lay beside him.

The story was told at a coroner's inquest on Turpin, 37, who took the middleweight title from Sugar Ray Robinson in 1951 and held it for two months.

Turpin was found dead in a room above the roadside cafe which he ran with his wife. His 17-month-old daughter, Carmen, was rushed to hospital with bullet wounds.

As the inquest was opened, brain surgeons operated on little Carmen. One bullet wounded her in the head and another pierced her lung.

Dr. D.F. Barrowcliff, a pathologist, told the coroner Turpin had a bullet in his head as well as the one that entered his heart and killed him. He said the wounds were self-inflicted.

Turpin's body was found slumped between a bed and a pile of packing cases.

Dick Turpin, 45-year-old elder brother of the boxer, said they had been laughing and joking together the night before Randy's death.

Jim Landis' two-run triple featured the uprisings which sent the White Sox down to their fifth straight defeat.

With two out and Max Alvis on first with a single in the opening inning, Rocky Colavito hit a ground ball to third and reached base when Freese threw wild to first. Fred Whitfield then singled home a run to before Landis delivered his big triple.

Despite setting a new JHS record for the distance, the 880 yard relay combination of Abe Brown, Frank Wildhagen, Dennis Portee and Jim Bruner failed to qualify for Saturday's running. The foursome who finished second in their heat shared the half-mile distance in 1:31.9, one-tenth of a second off the previous school mark.

The two individuals who failed to make the Saturday finals were pole vaulter Larry Nortrup and 100 yard dash-man Jim Bruner. Bruner advanced to the semi-finals with a :10.4 clocking in the quarter-finals, but finished back in the field in the day's final heat. Nortrup was unable to qualify at the 11'6" height requirement.

The surprise of the day came in the high jump action, as Springfield's Steve Becker failed to qualify. Becker, considered a potential record-breaker in the event had cleared 6'3" earlier in the spring and was expected to snap the existing state mark of 6'5 1/2" set in 1957 by Bill Palmer of Arlington Heights.

Dispite setting a new JHS record for the distance, the 880 yard relay combination of Abe Brown, Frank Wildhagen, Dennis Portee and Jim Bruner failed to qualify for Saturday's running. The foursome who finished second in their heat shared the half-mile distance in 1:31.9, one-tenth of a second off the previous school mark.

The two individuals who failed to make the Saturday finals were pole vaulter Larry Nortrup and 100 yard dash-man Jim Bruner. Bruner advanced to the semi-finals with a :10.4 clocking in the quarter-finals, but finished back in the field in the day's final heat. Nortrup was unable to qualify at the 11'6" height requirement.

The surprise of the day came in the high jump action, as Springfield's Steve Becker failed to qualify. Becker, considered a potential record-breaker in the event had cleared 6'3" earlier in the spring and was expected to snap the existing state mark of 6'5 1/2" set in 1957 by Bill Palmer of Arlington Heights.

Escape Injury In Crash South

Two cars were damaged as a result of a collision on U. S. 87 one mile south of the city about eight o'clock Friday night.

State police listed the drivers of the northbound cars as Gerald L. Downs, 16, of White Hall, and Richard C. Townsend, 29, of Waynesville, Mo.

Officers said that Downs slowed for another northbound vehicle, whose driver was preparing to turn off the road.

Townsend, unable to stop on the rain-slick pavement, struck the rear of the Downs vehicle.

No injuries were reported.

One driver was ticketed following a two-vehicle accident at the intersection of Clay and East State street about three o'clock Friday afternoon.

Investigating city police noted that Richard T. Hatfield of route one, Winchester was cited for too fast for conditions after his eastbound car struck a Friendly Cab, operated by Edward T. Beavers of 1840 North Church, who was southbound.

ESCAPE CRASH ON 36-54 WITH MINOR INJURIES

NEW BERLIN — Robert B. McGinnis, 79, of Loami and Alan Brown of Curran, a New Berlin High School senior, were taken to a New Berlin doctor's office following a three-car collision at the intersection of U.S. 36 and 54 and the Loami road Friday afternoon.

Brown, 17, was treated for cuts and bruises. McGinnis' injuries were also believed to be minor.

Police report that the accident occurred at 4:05 p.m. as McGinnis, alone in his car, attempted to cross the highway from Bates to the Loami road. His car collided with the one driven by Brown, spun around and struck a third car, driven by Grady Chromister, 22, of Springfield.

McGinnis was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way by investigating state police.

The Brown and McGinnis cars were towed to a New Berlin garage.

HOSPITALITY PLUS— Since the last thing Australia's ocean resort of Gold Coast wants is anything interfering with a tourist's good time, there's a different twist to the task of its meter maids. Bikini-clad girls patrol the streets, not to hand out tickets but to save overtime parkers from fines by inserting coins in parking meters about to expire.

WHITE KNIGHT GET HIM?—No, and it's not as spooky a situation as it appears. Seeming about to close in on Mary Beth Mengel is a plastic marker that actually is supposed to be lying down on the job, affixed to pavement to remind motorists that a school is near with children at play. The pavement safety markers made by Holland-Suco Color Co. of Stockertown, Pa., are finding increasing use in alerting drivers to road hazards.

'OLD GIRL' KIDNAPED
ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Kidnapers have been taking the wooden Indian maidens from the Tulocks Woods Subdivision and returning them from time to time.
Perhaps "The Old Girl," as the statue was affectionately known, will also return.
She is missing from the yard of Thomas Carriso's residence. Carved nine years ago by Chief Big Wind near Lac du Flambeau, Wis., she was dressed in a blue cape and looked very matronly.
"I'm very unhappy about it," said Mrs. Carriso. "It's surprising how much you miss something. You don't notice it, but when it's gone, the yard looks so bare."
